The Pedigree of Stuart William De Le Dewhurst

In the course of our studies we were much aided by the accounts of the townships and villages of the Ribble Valley and of the territories of the Ancient Parish of Whalley, which appear in the Victoria History series for the County of Lancaster and which have now been made freely available on the British History Online website (https://www.british-history.ac.uk/). In particular the accounts of Wilpshire, Langho, Dinckley, Salesbury, Hothersall, Billington, Balderstone, Osbaldestone, Mitton, Chipping, Clayton-le-Dale, Pleasington, Clayton-le-Moors, Church, Rishton, Darwen, Blackburn, Turton, Accrington, Chorley, Rivington, Rossendale, Great Harwood, Altham, Hapton, Padiham, Goldshaw Booth, Reedley Hallows, Higham, Ightenhill, Barrowford, Nelson, Habergham, Cliviger, Read, Simonstone, Newchurch in Pendle, Wiswell, Downham, Chatburn, Colne, Burnley, Clitheroe, Whalley, Aighton, Bailey, Goosnargh, Ribchester, Longridge, Preston, Kirkham, Garstang, Lancaster, Bolton, Bashall, Liverpool, Manchester, Audenshaw, Accrington, Haslingden, Dutton and Dilworth were a source of much valuable information by which we were, over a period of time, able to understand the path which our ancestors trod on their journey from our ancestral seat at Le Dewhurst. We will now set down a full and detailed account of our ancestry in the male line, together with the surviving details of our direct maternal ancestry; although we will also sometimes mention the siblings of our direct paternal ancestors, particularly where it is relevant in supporting a descent. It was interesting to note that all of our ancestors, since the introduction of the Parish Register, were born within wedlock and were usually also baptised in the Christian faith (and may all have been; but on occasion a record may not have been found). We found no evidence of bastardy or illegitimacy. We establish a Pedigree of twenty-six generations beginning in the idyllic setting of the ancient Ribble Valley.

9. Thomas Dewhurst was born in Higham, Lancashire, in 1746 (inferred from date of Baptism, so date of birth could have been earlier) to John Dewhurst and his wife Ann Dewhurst (nee Heartley) and he was baptised on 22 Feb 1746 at the Church of St Leonard in Padiham (England & Wales, Christening Index, 1530-1980, Ancestry; England, Select Births and Christenings, 1538-1975, FHL 1040343, ref 2:31JRCT2, Ancestry; Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, ref Pr 2863/1/3, Ancestry). 10. John Dewhurst was born in 1702 (date of his birth is inferred from date of Baptism) in Pendle to Robert Dewhurst and his wife Bridget Dewhurst. John Dewhurst is baptised 18 Oct 1702 at the Church of St Peter in Burnley (England, Select Births and Christenings, 1538-1975, FHL 896846, 896847, Ancestry; OPC records for Lancashire, http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). Ann Heartley is born to James Heartley in Rochdale and she is baptised at the Church of St Chad in Rochdale on 14 Dec 1706 (England, Select Births and Christenings, 1538-1975, FHL 6342704, Ancestry; see also FHL 1342495; Manchester, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1541-1812, Rochdale, ref L48/1/1/7, archive roll 640). John Dewhurst and Ann Heartley are married on 4 Aug 1726 at the Church of St Peter in Burnley (Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, Parish Register, Burnley, ref Pr 3027/1/2, Ancestry). Note well that the transcription of that register on Ancestry is incorrect. The Register is very faded and the transcriber attributes the marriage of 'John Dent' and 'Agnes Hostles'. The entry is in fact 'John Dewhurst' and 'Ann Heartley' and there is more than one occurrence of a Heartley in that register. Ann Dewhurst passes away in 1767 at the age of 61 and is buried at the Church of St Leonard in Padiham on 4 Aug 1767 (England, Select Deaths and Burials, 1538-1991, FHL 1040343, Ancestry; Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, Bishop's Transcripts, ref Drb/2/282, Ancestry; OPC records for Lancashire, http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). John Dewhurst passes away the following year, at the age of 66 and is buried on 6 Feb 1768 at the Church of St Leonard in Padiham (OPC records for Lancashire, http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). The will of John Dewhurst is recorded in the probate registry (UK, Extracted Probate Records, 1269-1975, Ancestry) and the will of 'Dewhurst, John, of Padiam, weaver' is preserved in the Lancashire Records Office under reference WCW/C462B/54-1, 54-2 and 54-3.

11. Robert Dewhurst is born in Newchurch in Rossendale in 1673 (inferred from date of Baptism) to Josias Dewhurst and his wife Ann Dewhurst (nee Howorth). Robert Dewhurst is baptised on 21 Sep 1673 at the Church of St Nicholas in Newchurch in Rossendale (England, Select Births and Christenings, 1538-1975, FHL 0844803 IT 3, Ancestry; Manchester, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1541-1812, FHL GB127.L75/1/1/1, Ancestry; "England Births and Christenings, 1538-1975," database, FamilySearch, International Genealogy Index, LDS, Utah). Robert was no doubt named after his paternal grandfather the Reverend Robert Dewhurst M.A. We have yet to confirm a birth record for Bridget, who is the wife of Robert Dewhurst junior and there are several likely entries in the OPC records for Lancashire, including a Bridget Baron baptised 8 Jul 1677, and Bridget Nowell baptised 26 Aug 1677 (OPC records for Lancashire, http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). Robert went North from Newchurch in Rossendale to Newchurch in Pendle. Robert and Bridget Dewhurst have several children together. Firstly, Josias Dewhurst (a namesake of Robert's father Josias) who is baptised 23 Jan 1698 at the Church of St Peter in Burnley (OPC records for Lancashire, http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). The entry states that he is the son of Robert Dewhurst of Saxifield. We mention that the christian name Josias is extremely rare among the Dewhursts of Blackburneshire and we have only found two occurrences in the seventeenth century. It is of course a biblical name and Josias' grandfather was a Church of England Vicar. Robert and Bridget then have a son Robert Dewhurst who is baptised 21 Sep 1701 at the Church of St Mary, Newchurch in Pendle and whose genealogy is well represented in the parish records (OPC records for Lancashire, http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). Then as we have noted above Robert and Bridget have a son John Dewhurst, baptised in 1702 and also a daughter Isabell, baptised 31 Mar 1706 at the Church of St Peter in Burnley (ibid). Bridget Dewhurst passes away in 1745 and is stated to be the wife of Robert Dewhurst of New Laund; she is buried on 24 July 1745 at the Church of St Mary in Newchurch in Pendle (OPC records for Lancashire, http://www.lan-opc.org.uk; England, Select Deaths and Burials, 1538-1991, FHL 1278872; Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, ref PR 2862/1/1, Ancestry; "England Deaths and Burials, 1538-1991," database, FamilySearch, International Genealogical Index, LDS, Utah, FHL microfilm 1,278,872). Her spouse Robert Dewhurst of New Laund is buried on 27 July in the same year (England, Select Deaths and Burials, 1538-1991, FHL 1278872, Ancestry; Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, ref PR 2862/1/1, Ancestry).

12. Josias Dewhurst is born around 1642, probably at Newchurch in Rossendale, to Robert Dewhurst and his wife Sicelie Dewhurst (nee Smith). He would certainly have been baptised and this probably took place at the Church of St Nicholas, where his father Robert was Minister. The absence of a clear record of his birth and baptism is not unusual; it is well known that there was significant disruption to the parish registers in the period which led up to the First English Civil War (see eg Latter Day Saints History of Parish Registers in England; https://www.familysearch.org/wiki/en/History_of_Parish_Registers_in_England). However on 15 Nov 1665 there is a record of the marriage of Josias, to Anna Howorth at the Church of St Nicholas in Newchurch in Rossendale (Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, Bishop's Transcripts, ref Drb/2/267, Ancestry; Manchester, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1541-1812, ref GB127.L75/1/1/1, Ancestry). This may be the Ann Howorth, daughter of Otiwell Howarth of Accrington who is baptised at the Church of St James in Altham on 29 May 1639 (OPC records for Lancashire, LDS Film 1278856, http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). In 1684 an Otiwell Howorth occurs as a surrenderee of real property in the Manor Court of Accrington (Lancashire Records Office DDHCL/3/218). There is a transaction made in the Manor Court of Accrington during Michaelmas 1684, concerning the surrendor of real property in Boothedgside from Robert Dewhurst, Clerk, to his son Josiah Dewhurst (ibid DDHCL/3/218). And again in 1686 concerning a property in Wolfendenbooth (ibid, DDHCL/3/219). Then again c.1687-1688, in Rossendale "maintenance by Robert Dewhurst, clerk, of family of Josias his son" (ibid, QSP/644/23). Ann Dewhurst passes away in 1692 and is buried on 4 Feb 1692 at the Church of St Nicholas in Newchurch in Rossendale (Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, Bishop's Transcripts, ref Drb/2/267, Ancestry; Manchester, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1541-1812, ref GB127.L75/1/1/1, Ancestry). Her abode is 'Edgside' and the parish register indicates that she is a widow; we have not found a record of the death of Josias but he must have predeceased his wife Ann and may also be buried at the Church of St Nicholas in Newchurch in Rossendale.

13. Robert Dewhurst was born before 27 May in 1618, probably in Waddington, Yorkshire. He appears in the Alumni Oxoniensis 1500-1714: "s. Thomas, of Wadington, Yorks, pleb. Brasenose Coll., matric. 27 May, 1636, aged 18" (p. 400). Sicelie Smith, the daughter of Thomas Smithe of Rushehulme is baptised 24 Sep 1611 at Manchester Cathedral (OPC records for Lancashire, http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). Robert and Sicelie are married on 15 Sep 1640 at the Church of St Mary the Virgin in Eccles (OPC records for Lancashire, http://www.lan-opc.org.uk; source 'manchester central library'). Note also the entry in Irvine (1911) Marriage Licenses Granted in the Archdeaconry of Chester, volume IV, p58, 7 September 1640: "Robert Dewhurst, Clerk, and Cecily Smith, Parish of Manchester, Spinster. Bondsman, Richard Seddon of Risham [Rusholme], Lane. Revds. Edward Woolmer and Edmund Hopwood, Clerks, Manchester.". We know that Robert's wife is called Cicelie because it is stated in the papers of the antiquary Father Francis Robert Raines, who was Rector of Manchester, with regard to 'Conveyance of premises in Blakeley co Lancs From Robert Dewhurst of Gorton, clerk and others" (Bundle no. 11, no. 143, 24 Mar 1673/4) and 'Fine of messuages in Blakely' between 'Robert Dewhurst, clerk, Ciceley his wife' (Bundle no. 11, no. 144, 4 Apr 1674) (The Raines Collection C.6.34-E.5.7). There are numerous occurrences for Robert in the documents of the period. In 1640 he is incumbent of Haslingden (The Account of Haslingden, VCH volume VI; source Earwaker). In 1641 he appears in a libel case in the Court of Star Chamber (EDC 5/1641/26). In the Alumni Oxoniensis the entry records matriculation at Brasenose but does not list a degree. However the Law Report from the Star Chamber case describes him as a Master of Arts. Later in 1641 he appears as Curate of Rivington (Irvine (1904) A short history of the township of Rivington in the county of Lancaster with some account of the church and grammar school). In 1646 he occurs as the Rector of the Church of St Nicholas at Newchurch in Rossendale (The Account of Newchurch, VCH, volume VI, https://www.british-history.ac.uk/vch/lancs/vol6/pp437-441). In 1646 he is mentioned in Plund. Mins. Accts. (Rec. Soc. Lancs. and Ches.), i, 48. In 1650 he is mentioned in the Parliamentary Survey (Commonw. Ch. Surv. 168; Notitia Cestriensis). He is ordained in 1663 (The Account of Gorton, VCH volume IV, https://www.british-history.ac.uk/vch/lancs/vol4/pp275-279). He may be the Robert Dewhurst who is Curate of Luddenden Jun 1666 and Curate of Croston in August 1670 (Biographia Halifaxiensis, pp. 188 and 193). In 1671 he is Rector of Gorton Chapel in Manchester (Account of Gorton VCH). The date of his license is given as 1686 (ibid). He occurs in the Clergy of the Church of England Database (theclergydatabase.org.uk). He is ordained deacon and priest 25/04/1663 at the Henry VII Chapel at Westminster Abbey by the Bishop of Chester, George Hall (CRO, EDV 2/10 (Exhibition Book): 1686; and CRO, EDV 2/10A (Exhibition Book): 1691). He occurs on the database again as Priest at Gorton on 14/07/1677 (CRO, EDV 2/9 (Exhibition Book): 1677) and on 00/00/1686 [sic] (CRO, EDV 2/10 (Exhibition Book): 1686). Then on 12/7/1686 he is licensed Curate of Gorton Chapel (CRO, EDV 2/10A (Exhibition Book): 1691). And on 16/5/1691 he occurs again as Curate of Gorton Chapel (CRO, EDV 2/10A (Exhibition Book): 1691). There is a report of a real property transaction in the manor court of Accrington, Michaelmas, in 1677, concerning 'Boothedgeside' , with property surrendered to Charles Unsworth who was the spouse of one of Robert's daughters (Lancashire Archives DDHCL/3/211). And in 1682 in Gorton, Manchester, concerning the "maintenance of orphans of Charles Unsworth by Robert Dewhurst, minister, their grandfather" (ibid, QSP/599/9). We do not have a clear record of the death or burial of Sicelie, although a 'Sislie' is buried on 27 Jan 1671/2 at St James, Church Kirk, Lancashire. There is, however, a clear record of the death and burial of the Reverend Robert Dewhurst of Gorton. Robert is interred at the Church of St James in Gorton, Manchester on 27 Oct 1697 (Manchester, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1541-1812, ref M432/1/1/1, archives roll 847, Ancestry). That date is also given in the account of Gorton in the Victory County History series (www.british-history.ac.uk). We have obtained a full copy of the last will and testament of Robert Dewhurst, late Minister of Gorton (Lancashire Record Office, ref WCW/Supra/C286g/57). The will is in good condition and it identifies Robert's children and grandchildren.

14. Thomas Dewhurst of Waddington is born in 1581, the son of Robert Dewhurst of Dewhurst by his wife Elizabeth Baron of Great Harwood. Thomas is their first child and is baptised 22 August 1581 at the Church of St Bartholomew in his mother's parish (OPC Records for Lancashire: Great Harwood http://www.lan-opc.org.uk; England, Select Births and Christenings, 1538-1975, FHL Film Number 0599245 IT 1, Ancestry; and Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, ref number PR 482, Ancestry). There is an alternate Baptism date of 22 Aug 1582 also at Great Harwood (Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, PR 481, Ancestry; England, Select Births and Christenings, 1538-1975 FHL Film Number 0599245 IT 1). The day and month are the same, the year one year different. We are inclined to believe that the later entry is a duplicate. We have no record of his marriage until 'Jane wife of Thomas' is buried at the Church of All Hallows in Mitton on 21 May 1655 (OPC Records for Lancashire: Mitton http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). Based upon the date of birth of their children, in the records of the Parish of Mitton, Thomas may have married as a mature man of perhaps thirty-four years of age and his spouse may well have been younger, perhaps born around 1590 or later. On 23 Aug 1613 Thomas is named as a tenant of Sir Thomas Walmsley of Showley, Kt in the inquisition post mortem held for him at Blackburn (Rylands, J.P. (ed.) (1890) Lancashire inquisitions returned into the chancery of the duchy of Lancaster and now existing in the Public Record Office, London Stuart period, Part I, 1 to 2 James I, Lancashire and Cheshire Record Society, 3). On 24 Mar 1618 he is named in a writ of summons to appear before the Justices at Lancaster (archived at Lancashire Record Office under DDPT 23, Article 79, Petre of Dunkenhalgh collection). His daughter Isabell is baptised 28 Jul 1617 at the Church of All Hallows at Mitton (OPC Records for Lancashire: Mitton http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). His son Robert is born before 27 May 1618 (Alumni Oxoniensis) but does not appear in the OPC Records. His daughter Ann is baptised 4 Feb 1618 at Mitton (Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, PR; OPC Records for Lancashire: Mitton http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). Then Alis 13 Mar 1620, John 23 Nov 1626 and Martha baptised May 1633 (OPC Records for Lancashire: parish of Mitton http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). According to our analysis Thomas Dewhurst was aged fifty-two years and his wife Jane Dewhurst perhaps as old as forty-three at the date of Baptism of their last child Martha. It is quite likely that John and Martha were born several years before their Baptisms and their mother may have been under forty when they were born. John Dewhurst, serves the King in Arms during the English Civil War and has his estate in Comberall sequestered. His son Robert Dewhurst of Comberall later compounds and the estate is released from sequestration (Brownbill, J (1917) Royalist Composition Papers volume V, p. 180). Thomas occurs as a tenant in a Deed of Assignment dated 10 Nov 1634 (Lancashire Archives, Bradyll of Portfield/Whalley and Billington DDBR/18/7). In 1636 Thomas resides in Waddington, Lancashire (Alumni Oxoniensis). Waddington was a Chapelry in the Parish of Mitton and Mitton Parish adjoins that of Ribchester. Mitton Parish includes Aighton and Bayley and the Dewhursts of Bayley, in descent of James Dewhurst of Bayley, younger brother of Thomas Dewhurst, also occur in the records of the Church of All Hallows at Mitton. Thomas and his nephew Giles Dewhurst occur in Depositions from the Irish Rebellion. Giles deposes in 1641 the loss of a cargo 'brought into the porte or haven of Dublin in a barque of Liverpoole out of England soe much Wollen cloth as cost in yorkshire twoe hundreth and eight Powndes ster with intencion to have sold the same within the Cittie of Dublin' (Trinity College Dublin, 1641 Depositions, folio 273v). The cargo was stolen by Irish rebels after the bark was run aground in a storm at Clantarfe. For more information see Dewhurst, S W (2020) The Pedigree of Stuart William de le Deuhihurst volume II, Appendix II : The Dewhursts of Bayley and Comberhall. The following year Thomas, who was probably trying to recover the cargo, occurs at county Kildare where he is caught up in a case of robbery, horse-theft and murder (Trinity College Dublin, 1641 Depositions, MS 813, Folios 256r - 257r). Thomas is buried at the Church of St Wilfred at Ribchester 4 Sep 1657 after a long life of seventy-six years (Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, ref PR 2905/1/1). The Dewhursts Family have a strong connection with the Church of St Wilfred in Ribchester and our Family have been living in the Ribchester and Dutton area for many centuries.

15. Robert Dewhurst of Dewhurst was born at Dewhurst Hall, in Le Dewhurst, Wilpshire around 1655. He was the second son of William Dewhurst of Dewhurst by his wife Elizabeth nee Aspenhall of Standen Hall. The name Robert is the most ancient name among the Dewhursts of Dewhurst. It is the name of the historical head of our family: Roberto de le Deuhihurst. Robert is also named after his paternal uncle Robert Dewhurst M.A., Fellow of University College, Oxford University. Robert is identified in the will of his uncle when he is made in 1588 its sole executor (The Last Will and Testament of Robert Dewhurst of Rivington, 1587 Archdeaconry of Chester Probate Records, Lancashire Record Office, 1588, ref: WCW/Supra/C11/32). With his cousin Robert Dewhurst (son of his uncle Roger Dewhurst) he inherits the Lease of the Rectory and Parsonage of the Church of Barrow in Lancashire (ibid), as well as real estate in Heath Charnock (ibid). On 11 Jul 1580 he is married to Elizabeth Baron of Great Harwood at the Church of St Bartholomew in Great Harwood (England, Select Marriages, 1538–1973, FHL Film Number 1278890, ref id: item 6; and Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, reference: PR 481; and in OPC Records for Lancashire: Great Harwood http://www.lan-opc.org.uk). There is a second occurrence, in Parish Register 482, of the Marriage of Robert Dewhurst and Elizabeth 'Brown' but this time the date has been transcribed as '9 Jul 1580' (England, Select Marriages, 1538–1973). The photograph of Register 482 does not show the date clearly. It is incorrectly transcribed on Ancestry as it clearly states 'Baron' and it is certainly a duplicate entry of the wedding on 11 Jul 1580. Robert and Elizabeth have two children. Thomas who is baptised 22 Aug 1581 at Great Harwood and James Dewhurst who is baptised 22 May 1584, also at Great Harwood. For the history and genealogy of the line of James Dewhurst of Bayley please see Volume II Appendix II: The Dewhursts of Bayley and Comberall. Robert Dewhurst occurs in a real property transaction by Deed on 1 Apr 1588, with Richard Dewhurst of Livesey et al. concerning land in Pleasington, Chaigeley, Wheleton, Lyvesay, Bolton-in-Moors, Great Leaver, Turton, Edgworth, and Birchwood (Lancashire Archives, Lancashire Courts of Quarter Sessions, Enrolled Deeds, Deeds of Bargain and Sale ref: QDD/1, m6). Robert occurs again on 8 Jul 1602 in another real property transaction by Deed, with James Grastocke of Cumberall in Whittingham (ibid ref: QDD/11, m6). On 29 Oct 1603 Robert occurs as a witness in a Deed for the purchase of Skipton Castle Mills by Sir Thomas Hesketh (Appendix A, Cooper, T. P. (1911) The History of the Castle of York, E Stock, London, The Internet Archive). On 6 Aug 1607 he occurs as a witness during the inquisition post mortem of Robert Bamber (Rylands, J P (ed) (1888) Lancashire Inquisitions returned into the Duchy of Lancaster and now existing in the Public Record Office London. Stuart Period Part I. The Record Society, London in The Internet Archive). On 23 Mar 1621/2 Robert Dewhurst appears in the Last Will and Testament of Edward Tildesley of Morleys, County of Lancaster, Esquire, in the matter of a deed of gift and the marriage, tuition and wardship of Tildesley's sons (Earwaker, J P (Manchester, 1893) Lancashire and Cheshire Wills and Inventories 1572 - 1696 now preserved at Chester, pp. 190, 191). On 16 Apr 1627 he occurs again as a witness to a lease document between Thomas Anderson of Samlesbury and Richard Haworth, gentleman, of Gray's Inn, Middlesex (Documents of Title, Samlesbury, Kenyon Family of Peel Hall, Lancashire Archives, ref: DDKE/ Box 91/16). He is buried at the Church of St Bartholomew in Mitton on 16 Jun 1634 (Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812, ancestry.com).

16. William Dewhurst of Dewhurst was born around 1520 at Dewhurst Hall, Le Dewhurst to John Dewhurst of Dewhurst and his wife Alice nee Usherwood, of Shorrock Hey, Pleasington. He is the eldest son and legitimate heir of Le Dewhurst. Although there is no record of his baptism, the Dewhursts are a Christian family and he would certainly have been baptised, probably at the Church of St Mary and All Saints in Whalley. On 15 Feb 1544 he is married to Elizabeth Aspenhall of Standen Hall at the Church of St Mary and All Saints (England, Select Marriages, 1538–1973, FHL Film Number 0844795 IT 4, 0844795 IT 5, 93672; and OPC Records online for Lancashire: parish of Whalley). He may be the William Dewhurst of Billinge, who occurs in the Last Will and Testament of Henry Lound (April 1581 Disputed Probate Papers Archdeaconry of Chester in Lancashire Archives WCW/Supra/C1/58a*)*. On 21 Mar 1558 William Dewhurst occurs in a real estate transaction in the purchase, with John Aspenhall, of the Manor of Little Penhulton from Alexander Houghton (Harwood, H W F (London, 1917) The Genealogist New Series volume XXXIII, pp. 84-5). The estate consists of 8 messuages, 6 cottages, 6 tofts, 8 gardens, 8 orchards, a windmill, 300 acres of land, 10 acres of meadow and 60 acres of pasture, 20 acres of wood and 100 acres of tubary, 40 acres of moss, 100 acres of moor, 100 acres of furze and heath and 6s 8d rents in Penhulton, Clitheroe, Wilpshire and Ribchester (ibid). William and Miles Aspenhall, then act as Attorneys of Alexander Houghton to take seisin of premises and deliver them to Roger Shireburn et al. (ibid, p. 164). William Dewhurst occurs in Abrams in his main account of the Dewhursts of Dewhurst (Abrams, W A (1877) Parish of Blackburn, County of Lancaster. A History of Blackburn, Town and Parish, J G and J Toulmin, Blackburn, pp. 750 - 752). According to that text, he occurs in 1568 'and was assessed for lands in Wilpshire to a subsidy in 1570. He died about 1592, having given 20s to Blackburn Grammar School'. It appears that William Dewhurst was a first governor of Blackburn Grammar in 1567 (Abrams, p. 266). He occurs in 1613 in the Visitations of Lancashire in the Pedigree of his grandson and heir William Dewhurst (Raines, F R (ed) (1871) The Visitation of the County Palatine of Lancaster, made in the year 1613, p. 96). On 30 Jan 1547 his son and heir John Dewhurst is baptised at the Church of St Mary and All Saints. In the will of his younger brother, Robert Dewhurst of Rivington, proved at Chester in 1588, we learn that William has sons James and Robert, as well as daughters Ann and Grace. William is also a legatee under that will.

17. John Dewhurst of Dewhurst was born around 1500 at Dewhurst Hall, Le Dewhurst, son and heir of William Dewhurst of Dewhurst. He is married to Alice Usherwood of Shorrock Hey in Pleasington, probably around 1520 at the Church of St Mary and All Saints in Whalley, or at the Church of St Wilfred in Ribchester. They have sons William, Robert, Roger and John and a daughter Ann (Last Will and Testament of Robert Dewhurst of Rivington 1588). John Dewhurst of Dewhurst occurs in the Pedigree of his great grandson William Dewhurst of Dewhurst in 1613 (Visitations of Lancashire, p. 96). John Dewhurst of Dewhurst is clearly the Head of the House of Dewhurst. The christian name of John's spouse is not recorded in the Pedigree but we know that she is called Alice, when on 1 Oct 1556, her son William settles on her a lease for life to lands in Billington (Petre of Dunkenhalgh Collection, Article 104, Lancashire Archives ref: DDPT 6). John may have had several siblings, as there are numerous occurrences in the parish registers and in other records of the period. We account Roger Dewhurst of the Parish of Whalley and Thomas Dewhurst of Ribchester as the younger brothers of John Dewhurst of Dewhurst. The Dewhursts of Cheshunt are certainly a branch of our family. We have considered the possibility that Barnard Dewhurst (1533 - 1596) was in descent of a younger brother or possibly cousin of John Dewhurst of Dewhurst. We conclude, however, that it is most likely that Barnard Dewhurst is a younger son of John Dewhurst of Dewhurst. It is believed that Barnard's spouse Ann Warde was a niece of a spouse of Lord Burleigh so we suggest that Barnard's descent is more likely to be close to the senior agnatic line. In the account of Wilpshire in the Victoria County History John is said to have died in 1547 (Farrer and Brownbill (1911)). We can find no other record of this but the source appears to be the Kuerden MS. However, a John Dewhurst is buried on 27 Mar 1541 at the Church of St Mary and All Saints in Whalley (Lancashire, England, Church of England Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, 1538-1812 ref PR1; and OPC Records Lancashire online: parish of Whalley). This may be the burial of John Dewhurst of Dewhurst, or it may be the burial of his son or cousin. The Dewhursts seem to have been using the Arms: ermine, three escallops or., with a wolf's head erminois in the period. Robert Glover recorded the arms in his Ordinary (reprinted in Berry, W (1828) Encyclopedia Heraldica, Piper, London, The National Archives). There has been some disagreement over the Dewhurst Arms but John Dewhurst of Dewhurst may have considered himself to be an armiger. His great grandson William would receive a formal Grant of Arms.

18. Oliver Dewhurst was born around 1475 at Dewhurst Hall, Le Dewhurst, eldest son and heir of his father William Dewhurst of Dewhurst. According to Abrams account of the Dewhursts of Dewhurst in Wilpshire, Oliver occurs in the 1523 Lay Subsidy for Wilpshire (Abrams, W A (1877) p.750). It appears that he was still living in Wilpshire as a mature man of some forty-eight or so years. We know little of Oliver Dewhurst's life and he does not occur in any of the other records which we have examined over several years. The Dewhurst Family is a Christian family and marriage is a living tradition. It is highly likely that Oliver would have been born within wedlock and that he would have married before siring children. It is unfortunate that we were not able to find any record of the name of Oliver's spouse. We note that a Margreta Dewhurst is buried at the Church of St Mary and All Saints in Whalley on 4 Dec 1539. She could perhaps have been Oliver's spouse but we have no way of knowing. As it happens Oliver is a very uncommon Dewhurst first name. An examination of the OPC records for Lancashire shows only six Olivers registered between 1610 and 1992. In addition to John Dewhurst of Dewhurst, we believe Oliver to have been the father of Roger Dewhurst of the Parish of Whalley and Thomas Dewhurst of Ribchester and both occur in the OPC records (Dewhurst, S W (2020) The Post-Medieval Dewhursts).

19. William Dewhurst of Dewhurst was born around 1450 at Dewhurst Hall, Le Dewhurst, son and heir to his father John Dewhurst. John would have been married and it is very likely that William would have been born within wedlock. It is also very likely that William would have married but again we have no record of his spouse. William occurs on 3 Feb 1520 in a real property transaction involving Sir Thurstan Helde and Sir Robert Sumnour, priests, and John Talbot, Lord of the manor, with property in Bradleyhey, Milnebonke and the Bernecroft (The Bolton Family Papers, Lancashire Archives, ref: DDX/2053/3). William occurs again in the records of the 1523 Lay Subsidy, along with his son Oliver (Abrams, p.750). By this time William must have been a mature man in the later stages of his life. Both men are said to be of Wilpshire, being the location of the Dewhurst seat. It would seem that William remained in control of his estate up to his seventies. William is the most frequently occurring first name in the senior line of the Dewhursts of Dewhurst. It is also one of the most frequently occurring Dewhurst names overall. A quick examination of the OPC records for Lancashire returns some 969 William Dewhursts from 1543 to 1996.

20. John Dewhurst of Dewhurst was born around 1420 at Dewhurst Hall, Le Dewhurst, son and heir of Adam Dewhurst of Dewhurst. This was during the reign of Henry V, whom his father Adam, along with his brother and nephews, had served in the course of the Hundred Years War. John's younger brother was named Henry. In May 1420 Henry V of England and Charles VI of France would sign the Treaty of Troyes, which made Henry heir to the French throne. Which treaty would later be defied by Charles the dauphin. John Dewhurst and his brother Henry occur in the account of Wilpshire in volume VI of Farrer and Brownbill (1911) The History of the County of Lancaster, where it is said: 'In 1447 John Dewhurst of Dewhurst, gent., and Henry his brother were fined for taking too active a part in the Talbot and Hoghton disputes.'. From the account of Salesbury (ibid):

> In 1425 Richard son of Henry de Hoghton, kt., of Leagram, became bound in the chancery at Lancaster to John son of William Talbot in 1,000 marks to abide the award of John Stanley and William Harrington, kts., touching the estates late of Sibyl relict of Richard Radcliffe. The award has not been preserved, but appears to have allotted to Richard de Hoghton lands forming part of this estate worth £20 per annum. The settlement did not long continue acceptable to the Talbots, by whom several attempts were made, with the assistance of friends, to intimidate the Hoghtons and eject them from the share of the Clitheroe estates of which they had been placed in possession by the award of 1425. In 1440 the sheriff was directed to summon before the justices at Lancaster twenty-four men of the view of frankpledge of Salesbury, Clayton, Wilpshire, Dinckley, Oswaldtwistle and Dutton to recognize if John Talbot and John his son on 1 April 1438 gathered round them a number of armed men, entered the manors of Salesbury and Clayton belonging to Richard de Hoghton, esq., and forcibly occupied his lands in the places named.

21. Around 1400 Adam de Dewehirst was born at Dewhurst Hall, Le Dewhurst, to his father Geoffrey de Dewhurst (qv. Dewhurst, S (2020) The Belligerent Dewhursts : A Close Analysis of the Medievalsoldier Tables). Adam was a highly experienced veteran who served in arms during the Hundred Years War. He was no doubt trained since childhood by his father Geoffrey and his grandfather Richard. In 1421 Adam occurs as Man-at-Arms in the King's Expedition to France (Muster Lists, TNA E101/50/28 m1 and again under TNA E101/50/28 m5d). Then in the same year as Man-at-Arms (Foot) (Muster Lists, TNA E101/50/28 m8d and TNA E101/50/28 m3d). In 1422 he occurs as Man-at-Arms (Foot) at the Garrison of Rouen (Muster Roll, TNA E101/49/31). He occurs again in 1422 with Sir John Harpelay under the command of Thomas Beaufort, Count of Perche (Muster Roll, TNA E101/50/22). In 1425 he occurs as Man-at-Arms in the official retinue of Sir John Harpelay, in the Bailli of Alencon and the Conquest of Maine (Muster Roll, AN K 62/11/19). In 1427 he occurs in the retinue of Sir Thomas Blount in the field, in the Conquest of Anjou and Maine and musters at Essay (Muster Roll, BNF, MS. Fr. 25768, no. 260). In 1428 he occurs in the retinue in the field of Sir Thomas Rempston, under the command of Thomas Montagu the Earl of Salisbury on the Orleans Campaign and musters at Vernon (Muster Roll, BNF, MS. Fr. 25768, no. 291). He occurs again that year and is mustered at Meung (Muster Roll, BNF, MS. Fr. 25768 , no. 299). In 1429 he occurs as Man-at-Arms at the Garrison of Tombelaine (Muster Roll, BL., Add. Ch. 1438). He occurs again in 1430 as Man-at-Arms at Tombelaine under the sub-Captaincy of John Nessefield (Muster Roll, BL., Add. Ch. 1439). In 1432 he occurs in the retinue of Captain Sir William Trafford in the field and in the Marches of Avranchin (Muster Roll, BNF, MS. Fr. 25770, no. 710). In the same year he occurs again in the retinue of Sir William Trafford, in the field and in the Marches of Mortain and Domfront (Muster Roll, BNF, MS. Fr. 25770, no. 712). And again with Sir William Trafford, in the field and in the Marches of and in the Defence of Mortain and Domfront (Muster Roll, BNF, NAF 8602, no. 17). In 1434 he occurs at the Garrison of Falaise with Thomas Offord, under Captain Thomas Montagu, the Earl of Salisbury (BNF, MS. Fr. 25767, no. 33). All of these records are contained in the Medieval Soldier database at https://www.medievalsoldier.org/, which resource is based upon the work of Anne Curry and Adrian Bell and is administrated by the universities of Reading and Southampton.

22. Geoffrey is born around 1380 at Dewhurst Hall, Le Dewhurst, eldest son and heir of Le Dewhurst after his father Richard (Dewhurst, S W (2020) The Belligerent Dewhursts: A Close Analysis of the Medievalsoldier Tables). Geoffrey (also 'Godfrey') Dewehirst occurs in 1405, with his father Richard del Dewehirste of Blackburneshire, at Berwick, when he petitions King Henry IV for a Pardon (see Calendar of Patent Rolls, Henry IV, vol III 1405 - 1408, p. 76). The record states: 'Godfrey, son of Richard del Dewehirste of Blackburneshire, requests a general pardon for all felonies and trespasses, as he has served the King at Shrewsbury and elsewhere, but is outlawed in Lancashire'. The Pardon is granted in Jul 1405 (ibid). We have found no further record of Geoffrey's service at Shrewsbury. The record specified 'and elsewhere' and this suggests that Shrewsbury was not Geoffrey's first martial engagement. Many of the records of the period have not survived and we take the entry to be a strong indication that Geoffrey may have had a more extensive martial career. Geoffrey occurs again on 14 Oct 1422 as Man-at-Arms, under the Command of Sir William de la Pole KG (Muster Roll BNF MS. Fr. 25766 no. 809). The entry indicates that Geoffrey is assigned to the Garrison of St Lo, with Coutances and Park L'Eveque. There are several further engagements for a Geoffrey Dewhurst identified in the medievalsoldier tables. On 1 Aug 1427 a Geoffrey Dewhurst occurs as Man-at-Arms under Captain Thomas Burgh at Tombelaine (Muster Roll BNF. MS. Fr. 25768 no. 250). And again on 27 May 1428 (BL. Add. Ch. 11593). And 25 Nov 1428 (BNF. MS. Fr. 25767 no. 314). A Geoffrey Dewhurst occurs again on 21 Sep 1429 (BNF. MS. Fr. 25768 no. 415) and again on 23 Dec still under Burgh at Tombelaine (BL. Add. Ch. 1438). This time the entry indicates field service. On 10 Feb 1430 he occurs under John Nessefield at Tombelaine (Muster Roll BL. Add. Ch. 1439). Then on 9 Oct 1431 he is at Tombelaine under Sir William de la Pole (BNF. MS. Fr. 25769 no. 537). He occurs again on 27 Nov 1431 (Muster Roll BNF. MS. Fr. 25770 no. 648) and 27 Dec 1431 (Muster Roll BNF. MS. Fr. 25770 no. 660). On 5 May 1432 he is at Tombelaine under Sir William de la Pole and Thomas Chiseval (Muster Roll BNF. MS. Clairambault 201 no. 20). His latest occurrence in the tables is on 20 Dec 1435 (Muster Roll BNF. MS. Fr. 25772 no. 1037). It is quite likely that the occurrences from 1427 onwards identify a second Geoffrey Dewhurst and according to our analysis he is the second son of Geoffrey Dewhurst the elder (Dewhurst, S W (2020) The Belligerent Dewhursts).

23. Richard del Dewehirste was born around 1355 at Dewhurst Hall, Le Dewhurst, the son and heir of Roger de Dewehirste. The deeds of Richard's life exist in the myst which hangs ever over the Dewyhurst. That he served the King in arms is without any doubt. That he was a physically fit and strong man who had mastered archery and close-quarter combat is certain. He was no doubt a careful farmer. His lands, except his demesne, would have been tenanted or managed by his kin or by his servants. He no doubt enjoyed the simple pleasures, available in his day to a gentleman. A humble and honest man and one who did not shy away from conflict and from the threat and dangers of war. He would have served the local knights and their masters at times when his skills were needed. There would have been much love and affection among his family and for his wider kin and to his friends. However, the harsh realities of life and the ever-present threat of the problem of evil had no doubt hardened his view of the world. There would be loyalty and good will to his masters but no sympathy or regard for the enemy. We are sure that he would have married and that he would have wished for his children to be born within wedlock. We have no record of his spouse but we account four sons in Geoffrey, Thomas, John and Ralph (Dewhurst, S W (2021)). All of his sons would learn how to fight and how to kill and all would join the campaigns over in France in the service of the King. John and Ralph were retained by Sir James Harrington and Sir John Radcliffe KG in the King's Expedition to France in 1415 and it is believed that they both fought at the Battle of Agincourt. Richard would not know that his blood line would stretch inexorably for centuries into lifetimes and worlds whose members would have seemed strange to him. The only substantive record which we have of Richard's life occurs in 1405 at Berwick with his eldest son Geoffrey (also appears as Godfrey) (HMSO 1971) Calendar of the Patent Rolls now preserved in the Public Record Office, Henry IV, volume III, A.D. 1405 - 1408, p. 76). He would accompany his son in his hope that King Henry IV would pardon him. We do not know the details of Geoffrey's actions. Perhaps, in rage, he had slew some man, or had transgressed some law and was in expectation of imprisonment. What followed is one of the earliest records of our family and an event which changed Geoffrey's fortunes: the formal pardon of his actions by the King. We are hopeful that we will uncover in our research further evidence of Richard's life and military service.

24. Rogero del Dewehurst was born around 1335 at Dewhurst Hall, Le Dewhurst, son and heir to his father Rogero. From the account of Wilpshire (Farrer & Brownbill (1911)) we can see that he pays Poll Tax in 1379. On 1 Jul 1395 he occurs as a witness to a deed of entail between John of Bowehurst, chaplain, and John son of John of Cundlif, to Richard son of Robert of Cundlif, with remainder to Cecily daughter of Richard, son of Robert de Cundlif (Lancashire Archives, Petre of Dunkenhall/Billington ref DDPT 6, Article 62). The other witnesses are Thomas Banastre of Osbaldeston, Richard Banastre of Altham and Ralph de Rishton (ibid). The deed is said to have been given at Billington on the Thursday after the Commemoration of St Paul on 19 Ric. II (ibid). Roger occurs again as a witness in a deed of grant between William Wetherby, perpetual Vicar of Blackburn, John son of Robert de Cundlyf the elder and Richard Twystefield, chaplain, to John of Bowehursts, chaplain, and John son of John of Cundlif, regarding property in Billington had from Richard, son of Robert of Cundlif the elder (Lancashire Archives, Petre of Dunkenhall/Billington ref DDPT 6, Article 63). The other witnesses are Thomas de Radcliffe, Seneschal of Blackburneshire, Henry de Rishton, and Roger of Bolton (ibid). The deed is said to have been given at Billington on the Wednesday after the Translation of St Thomas the martyr. Roger occurs again on 19 Jul 1405 he occurs as a witness, in the company of Richard of Cundlif, William of the Dene, John de Bradyll the elder, and John de Bradyll the younger, in a deed of grant of lands in Billington between Henry Hardie of Billington and his wife Ellen to their son John. Roger must have been about seventy-five years of age at this time. It is regrettable that we do not have any details of Roger's spouse but it is highly likely that he was married and that his son Richard was born within wedlock. We mention that over the four and a half centuries between the earliest recorded Dewhurst pairing, that of John Dewhurst and Alice Usherwood, in one's direct ascent, there has been no illegitimacy at all and all of one's ancestors were born within wedlock. Thus far we have found no records of Roger's involvement in any of the military campaigns of his day. We think that it is very likely that Roger would have given military service. He would certainly have given his loyalty and service to the King. In such days there was no room for disagreements and perspectives. The harsh realities of life demanded that a gentleman served the more highly placed in the kingdom. It is most likely that Roger was an accomplished archer and had reached a good level of competence in Arms.

25. Rogero de Dewehirst the elder was probably born around 1312 at Dewhurst Hall, Le Dewhurst, son and heir of Adam de le Deuhihurst. He was the first Dewhurst in our direct line to be born at Dewhurst Hall in Le Dewhurst. He first occurs in the 1332 lay subsidy for Lancashire, where he is enumerated 'Rogo de Dewyhirst' of Livesay (Rylands, J. Paul. The Exchequer Lay Subsidy Roll of Robert de Shireburn and John de Radcliffe, Taxers and Collectors in the County of Lancaster, A.D. 1332. London: Wyman and Sons, 1896). The other six entries for Livesay are Henry la Walsh, Adam del Ewode, Robot del Knolt, Henry fit Rici, Nicho del Ewode and Adam de Liuesay. Roger pays two shillings in the subsidy. We cannot be certain that Roger was Adam's only son but it is very likely from the size of his estate that he would have been Adam's eldest son. Roger is a very common name among the Dewhursts of Blackburneshire. Roger the elder may have been named after his kinsman Rogero Dewhurst, brother of Henry Dewhurst and son of Roberto de le Deuhihurst; the earliest Dewhurst for whom we have a name. Roger and his wife Avina de Samlesbury occur in the account of Osbaldeston in the History of Lancaster volume six (Farrer & Brownbill (1911)). Roger and his brother died without male issue before 1320. Again we expect that Roger was married but we have no record of the name of his spouse or spouses. We have found thus far no record of his military service but it is to be expected that he would have been a proficient soldier. The Dewhurst estate was a relatively humble one. Roger was a gentleman but his family were of the minor gentry. War, for he could not have been born during a better period, was the background to daily life and the opportunities of joining the King's army and gaining riches was no doubt sufficient temptation. We can identify Roger in the records because he was a land owner but we know very little about his life. There are very few written records for the period in which he lived and no doubt there is much which has been lost. We cannot really portray him, except to say that he was our distant great grand father and that he would probably be amused to know that I should be sitting comfortably in my drawing room in Lancaster, just metres away from the Castle of Lancaster, writing an account of him over six centuries after his death. He was a poor Englishman but I suspect that he led a full and happy life and that he loved his wife, his children and his kin.

26. Adam de le Deuhihurst, father of Roger the elder, is the proximate source of our agnatic line. He was probably born around 1290 and probably in Lancashire or, as it was known in the period, the parish of Whalley. His late kinsman Roberto, was established at his seat at Le Dewhurst at the start of the reign of Edward I of England. We know little about Roberto's sons, beyond their names Roger and Henry. It seems likely that these brothers had children but we are told by the authority of Farrer and Brownbill (1906) that they both died without male issue before 1320. We cannot be sure of the nature of the relationship between Adam and Roger. Farrer and Brownbill say that Adam was their 'kinsman'. He may have been their cousin, or perhaps their nephew. If he had been their brother we might have expected the text to identify him as such. It seems that we must err on the side of caution and say that there is no evidence that Adam was brother to Roger and Henry. If he had been a nephew in their paternal line then Adam would be carrying the same Y-DNA as Roger, Henry and their father Roberto. That may well be the case but without any evidence we must consider that the kinship between Adam and his benefactors may have been consanguineous and possibly the relationship was not in the male line. It is fair to say that Roberto, Roger and Henry are the historic Arch of the House of Dewhurst; but Adam, after the biblical first man, is our direct blood ancestor and the earliest Dewhurst, whom we know by name, who definitely carried the Y-DNA haplogroup I1; and specifically a downstream branch which is widely considered to have been seeded in the British Isles during the Viking Invasions. We will discuss this point later on in our thesis. It is sad that we have no record of the name of Adam's spouse, that first girl of Le Dewhurst, but at least Adam appears several times in the records. Adam occurs in the Lancashire Lay Subsidy in 1332 for his estate in Wilpshire (Rylands, J (1896)). Then on 16 Oct 1332 he occurs as a juror in an inquest, taken at Preston, regarding the estate of William del Ewode (Farrer, W (1907) Lancashire Inquests, Extents and Feudal Aids Part II, A.D. 1310 - A.D. 1333, The Record Society). The inquest was before Robert Foucher, Sherrif of Lancaster. The other jurors were Adam de Knoll, Philip de Clayton, William Banastre of Walton, John de Simondstone, Robert Moton, Thomas de Doddhul, Alexander of Longleigh, Roger de Catelou, Alan de Kenyon, Adam de Livesey and John de Glendon (ibid). The text tells us that William del Ewode was hanged for a felony. According to Farrer and Brownbill (1906), in 1335, Adam de Dewhurst is holding his estate of Henry son of John, son of Walter de Bradyll. On 25 July 1340 Adam occurs as a juror in an inquest, taken at Manchester, concerning the Abbot and Convent of Whalley (Farrer, W (1907)). The other jurors mentioned in the text are Nicholas de Holden, Adam de Winckley, Henry de Rishton, Henry son of John de Clayton, Henry de Livesey, John de Simondstone, John Russel of Clitheroe, Adam the Livesey, John de Stanlawe, John de Standen and William de Osbaldeston. Adam does not occur again until 26 Jun 1351 when he is a witness to a grant between Henry son of Henry of Bolton to Robert of Cuddekly of 9 acres and 1p of land and meadow and 12p rent, from Henry son of John, son of Roger of Billington, in Billington, which Henry son of Robert of Bolton had from John son of Henry of Blackburn, to hold for life paying 12d at the Feast of St Giles, to Whalley Abbey (Lancashire Archives, Petre of Dunkenhalgh, ref DDPT/Billington/6, Article 51). The other witnesses listed are Richard de Radcliffe, Seneschal of Blackburneshire, John de Altham, Henry de Clayton on the Moors, Jordan de Kenyon and Robert de Bolton (ibid). The deed is said to have been given at Billington, on the Sunday after the Nativity of St John the Baptist, 25 Edw. III (ibid). Adam occurs again on 12 Nov 1351 as a witness to a deed of grant between Henry son of Henry of Bolton to Robert of Cundlif senior, involving properties in Billington and Wilpshire; and also reversion of lands held in dower by mother Alice (Lancashire Archives, Petre of Dunkenhalgh, ref DDPT/Billington/6, Article 52). The other witnesses are Robert son of Robert de Clitheroe, Robert de Bolton, Richard son of John de Clitheroe and Jordan de Kenyon (ibid). The deed is said to have been given at Billington, on Saturday in morrow of St Martin, 25 Edw. III and 1 Hen. Duke of Lancaster (ibid). Adam occurs again on 18 Sep 1352 as a witness to a deed of quitclaim, between Henry of Bolton to Robert of Cunliffe, of lands in Billington and Wilpshire, had from the donor's brother Henry (Lancashire Archives, Petre of Dunkenhalgh, ref DDPT/Billington/6, Article 53). The other witnesses are Richard de Radcliffe, Seneschal of Blackburneshire, Robert de Clitheroe, John de Bayley, Robert de Bolton and Richard of the Tyndehevede [archivist's transcription] (ibid). The deed is said to have been given at Billington on the Tuesday after the Exaltation of the Holy Cross, on 26 Edw. III (ibid). Adam may occur again on 26 Apr 1355 as a witness to a deed of quitclaim between Alice widow of Henry de Bolton and Robert de Cunliffe senior, of all land held in dower in Billington and Wilpshire (Lancashire Archives, Petre of Dunkenhalgh, ref DDPT/Billington/6, Article 54). Unfortunately the manuscript has faded and we rely on an entry by the archivist, which specifies a '… of the Dewihurst, Thomas his son'. It may therefore be evidence that Adam had a son Thomas but we cannot be sure and we have found no further occurrences of Thomas until Adam's second great grandson is born. The other witnesses are Robert, son of Robert de Clitheroe and Jordan de Kenyon (ibid). The deed is said to be given at Billington the Sunday after St Mark, 29 Edw. III (ibid). Adam finally occurs on 27 July 1362 as a witness to a deed of grant between Robert de Cunliffe and Henry his son, Randle de Billington and Adam de Qwythalge [archivist's], of all his properties in Billington and Wilpshire and from Henry de Bolton, Henry son of Roger de Dinckley, Robert son of John Dawson de Haighton, Cecily de Clitheroe and John de Bradyll. The text also mentions Richard son of Nicholas de Bolton and John son of Richard de Bolton (Lancashire Archives, Petre of Dunkenhalgh, ref DDPT/Billington/6, Article 55). The other witnesses are John de Bayley, Richard de Clitheroe, Thomas son of Ord and William de Bradyll (ibid). The deed is said to be given at Wilpshire on Wednesday after St James the Apostle, 36 Edw. III (ibid). According to our reckoning Adam would be a mature man of some seventy-two years of age by this time. We have no clear record of the death of Adam but his grandson Roger must have taken over the running of the Dewhurst estates by 1379 as he appears in the Poll Tax records.

Pop. Return Population Act. June 5th 1811

Dec. December 1806. The Winter of this year and all the ensuing Spring were so mild and open as never were remembered in any other circumstance most Providential as the preceding Summer was uncommonly drought, that Hay was scarce throughout the whole country. In some places not ⅓ third of the usual crop and the pasture proved. Corn however was a good crop and well housed. As the winter was the most open, the Summer was the finest the writer of this ever remembers here. And, though a most fateful and gracious Providence, the ridge of a Green Water making a fat Cruck Yard was rendered even to the middle the next of April, July & Aug. The above remark was written on the 16th March 1807 and the very night a Snow altogether unprecedented fell, 18 Inches deep.

Articles at the promotion of Robert Dewehurst, clerk, curate of Haslingden, against lord Ralph Ashton, baronet, exhibited on 22nd July 1641.

For the court.

In the name of God, Amen, we, Edmund Mainwaringe, doctor of laws, one of the masters of the supreme court of Chancery of England, and also vicar-general of the reverend father in Christ and lord John, by divine providence bishop of Chester, and principal official of the Consistory Court of Chester, lawfully appointed, object and articulate to you, lord Ralph Ashton of Whalley, Chester diocese, baronet, all and singular the articles, chapters or interrogatories following and concerning the salvation of your soul and the reformation of your morals and excesses and especially the contempt, disparagement, abuse and defamation of a minister of the sacred word of God, from our office at the promotion of the upright and discreet man Robert Dewhurst, preacher of the sacred word of God, at Haslingden, and curate of the church or chapel of Haslingden, about which and each one of which we wish and require a true, full, plain and faithful account to be given by you the aforesaid lord Ralph Ashton.

1. First of all, viz to you the aforesaid lord Ralph Ashton, baronet, we object and articulate that you believe or have heard to be said that all and singular the subjects of this realm of England, who say, produce, preach or emit insults, disparagements or words that are scandalous, disparaging, vexatious, opprobrious, reviling or defamatory about anyone, especially about any minister of the sacred word of God or preacher lawfully admitted, which tend, sound or have the power to tend to the injury, diminishment, denigration or detraction of the good fame and integrity of a minister or preacher of this kind, were and are to be duly corrected and castigated. And we object and articulate jointly, separately and about each point.

2. Item, we object and articulate to you that you believe or have heard said that the said Robert Dewhurst, master in arts, throughout several years past was and now is a minister of the sacred word of God, instituted in holy orders, and admitted lawfully as a preacher and curate of the church or chapel of Haslingden, Chester diocese, before-said. And that the aforesaid Robert Dewhurst was and is a very proven man on account of the brilliance of his mind and piety of life, and sane knowledge in sacred letters and the orthodox doctrine. And he is commonly called, held, had, named and reputed for a minister and preacher of the divine word, indeed, as an upright, learned, faithful and studious man, both within the chapel of Haslingden in the parish of Whalley, and elsewhere within the county of Lancaster and diocese of Chester, among all men having better knowledge of him, openly, publicly and notoriously. And we object, as above.

3. Item, we object and articulate to you that you, the aforesaid lord Ralph Ashton, being aware enough of all and singular the premises, and notwithstanding them, with fear having been removed, in the months of March, April, May and June [in the year] of the lord 1641 now current, in every, more or any of them, defamed the aforesaid Robert Dewhurst in the parish of Whalley, aforesaid, Chester diocese, before-said, and any parishes and public places neighbouring and surrounding the same, or in each, more or any one of the same places and parishes, falsely, wretchedly, maliciously due to hatred and envy against good morals and the rule of charity, and spoke, emitted, produced and preached several words that were insulting, disparaging, scandalous and defamatory or other things sounding and tending to the infamy, injury, denigration and diminishment of the status of the name and good reputation of the said Robert Dewhurst, and especially the words in English following or more or any of them, or others similar to them in effect or importing the same effect, viz: 'Thow or hee or this man' (meaning, naming, addressing, signifying, demonstrating the afore-named Robert Dewhurst, the party bringing suit in this matter), and speaking to the same Robert Dewhurst or about him: 'Hath or hast two wives signifying and intimating thereby as those p[er]sons who were then and there p[re]sent did conceive, that the s[ai]d Rob[er]t Dewehurst had another wiefe then living besides his wiefe w[i]th whom he did cohabite and live with', with a malicious and angry mind and for the sake of defaming him, often and on repeated occasions, at least once before several trustworthy witnesses. And we object, as above.

4. Item, that you the aforesaid lord Ralph Ashton admitted and acknowledged that in the years, months and places, aforesaid, and one of any of them, you had spoken, emitted and produced the afore-mentioned defamatory words and more or any of them or other things similar in effect to them and importing the same meaning, often and on repeated occasions, at least once in the presence of several trustworthy witnesses. And we object, as above.

5. Item, that by reason of the production of the aforesaid defamatory words, so as aforesaid, the upright status, name and good reputation of the before-said Robert Dewhurst were enormously injured and harmed in the presence of and among his good and serious neighbours and friends. And we object, as above.

6. 'And that it is a great injurie, disgrace and scandal to a minister to bee charged to have two wives both living at one tyme w[hi]ch asp[er]c[i]o[n] and infamous occasion doth beget and foment in [th]e minds of [t]he hearers, a disrespect of …on and doctrine of such a minister and therefore hould him incapeable of his place and function or to have the care of soules com[m]itted unto him'. And we object, as above.

7. Item, that you the aforesaid lord Ralph Ashton, baronet, were and are of the parish of Whalley, Chester diocese, and for this reason notoriously a subject of our jurisdiction. And we object, as above.

8. Item, that all and singular the premises were and are true, public, notorious, manifest and famous equally. And about and upon the same public voice and fame have laboured and in the present labour. And we object, as above.

Whereupon an oath having been made, lawfully required in this matter, the party of the said Robert Dewhurst seeks that right and justice be done and administered to him and his party in the premises and concerning any of them, with effect, and that the said lord Ralph Ashton for his so great rashness, daring and excess in the premises be forced and compelled to the reclamation of the aforesaid insulting and defamatory words and also to the restitution and restoration of the status, name and good reputation of the said Robert Dewhurst, as far as is in him, by all lawful remedies of law, and to be condemned in lawful expenses on the party and by the party of the said Robert Dewhurst made and to be made in this business and by occasion of the same, and to be paid to the same man, and once he has been condemned, be forced and compelled to the actual payment of the same by lawful remedies of law, by us and our definitive sentence or our final decree, and further anything to be done, decided and decreed in the premises and concerning any of them, which will be lawful and reasonable. All and singular which premises we object and articulate to you the afore-named lord Ralph Ashton jointly and separately from our office at the promotion of the said Robert Dewhurst, not constraining him to prove all and singular the premises or to the charge of a superfluous probate, about which he protests, but as far as he will have proved in the premises, as he may obtain in the things being sought, saving the benefit of law in all things always. Humbly imploring our before-said office in all things.

In the name of God, Men, the merits and circumstances of a certain present business of the office or ecclesiastical correction (which before us in judgement between Robert Dewhurst, clerk, curate of the church or chapel of Haslingden, Chester diocese, the party bringing this present business, on the one side, and lord Ralph Ashton of Whalley, Chester diocese, baronet, the party against whom this business is being promoted, the party on the other side, was pending and is still pending and undecided and lawfully proceeding), having been heard, seen and understood and fully and maturely discussed by us Edmund Mainwaringe, doctor of laws, one of the masters of the supreme court of the Chancery of England, and also vicar-general of the reverend father in Christ and lord John, by divine permission bishop of Chester, and principal official lawfully appointed. And the aforesaid parties lawfully appearing by their proctors before us in judgement, and the party of the aforesaid Ralph Ashton demanding and seeking instantly that sentence be brought and justice be done for his party, but the party of the afore-mentioned Robert Dewhurst respectively demanding and seeking justice also for his party. The whole and entire process, had and made before us in this matter, having been first of all examined by us, and the same having been diligently recited, and saving those things to be saved by us lawfully in this regard, we have considered that it should be proceeded to the production of our definitive sentence or our final decree to be brought in this business, and we proceed in the following manner: Because by things acted, enacted, brought, alleged, exhibited, proposed, proved and confessed equally, we clearly find in this cause that the party of the aforesaid Robert Dewhurst has less sufficiently founded or proved his intention in certain present articles, given and exhibited at another time at his promotion in this business, but has been completely defective and is defective in the proving of the same. The tenor of which same articles follows and is such, viz: In the name of God, Amen, we, Edmund Mainwaringe, doctor of law, one of the masters of the supreme court of Chancery of England, and also vicar-general of the reverend father in Christ and lord John, by divine providence bishop of Chester, and principal official of the Consistory Court of Chester, lawfully appointed, to you, lord Ralph Ashton of Whalley, Chester diocese, baronet, object, etc, [object and articulate] all and singular the articles, chapters or interrogatories following and [concerning] the salvation of your soul and the reformation of your morals and excesses and especially the contempt, disparagement, abuse and defamation of a minister of the sacred word of God, from our office at the promotion of the upright and discreet man Robert Dewhurst, clerk, preacher of the sacred word of God, at Haslingden, and curate of the church or chapel of Haslingden. Which same articles we have and wish to be had here as read and inserted. Therefore we, Edmund Mainwaringe, doctor of laws, the judge and official, before-said, having first of all invoked the name of Christ, and placing before and having the one God in our eyes, and from and with the advice of experts, with whom we have communicated in this matter, we pronounce, decree and declare that the afore-named lord Ralph Ashton from the instance and impeachement of the aforesaid Robert Dewhurst, as regards the things brought, narrated and sought by him, … … … and that he should be dismissed, and so we discharge and send him away, and we pronounce and condemn by this our definitive sentence or this our final decree that the same Robert Dewhurst should be condemned in lawful expenses on the part and by the party of the aforesaid lord Ralph Ashton by reason of this suit made and to be made, and ought lawfully to be paid to the same man or to his party, something which we do and publish in these writings. Indeed, reserving and we reserve the assessment or taking of these expenses to us or any judge suitable in this regard whatsoever.

Read on the 10th December 1640 by us, E. Mainwaring.

This sentence was read, brought and published by the judge, before-said, in the cathedral church of Chester in the commissary court these on Thursday, viz the 9th day of the month of December in the year of the lord 1641 in the presence of witnesses, as in the afore-written acts.

Assheton was descended from a younger son of the first Sir Ralph Assheton of Middleton in the 15th century, who married the heiress of Great Lever. His father was created a baronet in 1620 and served in the usual county offices, but his later years were unfortunate. He sold Great Lever in 1629, suffered outlawry, apparently in consequence of a Star Chamber case, and incurred a fine of £500 by High Commission for adultery and incest. Both father and son supported Parliament in the Civil War, and Assheton, in spite of his own matrimonial difficulties, became an elder in the Lancashire presbytery. His disastrous second marriage to the sister and pupil of the republican theorist, James Harrington, probably only served to narrow his political and religious outlook, and he held no local office during the Interregnum, though he thought it advisable to obtain a pardon at the Restoration. For the sixth time he was returned for Clitheroe, four miles from Whalley, at the general election of 1660, and marked as a friend by Lord Wharton, to be managed by Sir Thomas Wharton. A moderately active Member of the Convention, he was named to 19 committees and made ten recorded speeches. He was appointed to the committee for the indemnity bill, but spoke for excepting Bulstrode Whitelocke† who had ordered him to pay alimony. On 30 June he accused Thomas Birch of corrupt practices in the previous Parliament. Assheton was named to the committees to inquire into unauthorized Anglican publications and to consider the proviso concerning John Hutchinson in the indemnity bill. After the unseating of his colleague William White on 16 July he was denied permission to speak again on the Clitheroe election. Although opposed to the estate bill of Sir George Booth, because he wished 'to recompense him some other way', he was named to the committee. On 17 Aug. he moved to send all the regicides to the Tower, pending a decision on their fate, and he gave damaging evidence against Sir Henry Vane†. He demanded that the Speaker should reprove (Sir) John Marsham for his doubts about the Sabbath.

The Inquisition post mortem of Giles Colthurst of Lower Standen was taken 2nd April, 1 Mary (1553), and may be seen at the Public Record Office.[113] The will of Giles Colthurst (recited in part in the inquisition), says, inter alia : " Also it is my will that John Coltehurst my brother, Christofer Parker of R . . . dam, James Aspenhalghe of Overstanden and Robert Parker of Broxcholme, feoffies of trust possessed and seased for me in a dede made and dated the 10th day of December Anno Regni Regis Edwardi nup Rꝑ Anglie vjtl Sexto more at large it dothe and may appere." . . . .

In one of his footnotes Dr. Whitaker says, " James Aspinall of Overstanden was a trustee of Gyles Colthurst 10 Decr. 1552, and probably married his third daughter Elen." [114] There is no evidence of any such marriage from the Inquisition post mortem, and at the date it was taken Ellen Colthurst was unmarried. The name of James Aspinall's wife as given in the record from the " Act Book of Whalley " was Agnes.

The year 1544 saw the foundation of a Grammar School in Clitheroe. The following extracts are from the Foundation Charter : [115]

" Philip and Mary, etc. To all whom these our present Letters Patent shall come, health.

" Know ye that we, at the humble petition, as well of the Inhabitants of the towne of Clitherow and parish of Whalley, in the County of Lancaster, as others very many more of our subjects of the whole countrey neighbouring there, for a Grammar School in Clitherow, within the parish of Whalley to be erected and established, for teaching, bringing up, and instructing of boys and young men, of our special grace, etc., grant and ordain, that from henceforth there shall be one grammar school of Mary Queene of England. . . . .

" Know ye therefore that we have assigned, elected, named, and constituted our well beloved Richard Greenacres, Alexander Houghton, Gyles Parker, Edward Radcliffe, Thomas Greenacres and James Aspinall, inhabitants within the town of Clitherow and parish of Whalley to be the first rulers and governors of the possessions and revenues of the said school, etc.

" Witness ourselves, at Hampton Court, the xxix day of August, in the 1st and 2nd yeare of our reign."

Amongst the Lancashire Fines, or " Final Concords," for the period 1510-1558,[116] we meet with the following record :—

M. 13. [21 March 1558.]

Between John Aspenall and William Dewhurst, plaintiffs, and Alexander Howghton, deforciant of the manor of Penhulton, with the appurtenances, and of 8 messuages, 6 cottages, 6 tofts, 8 gardens, 8 orchards, a windmill, 300 a. of land, 40 a. of meadow, 60 a. of pasture,

Giles Dewhurst. Scholar (M.A.): Probate Inventory. 1577

RIVES NICHOLSON

The life of Giles Dewhurst of Christ Church is as poorly documented as those of most of his contemporaries at Oxford. A slim entry in the Alumni Oxonienses (1:400) reveals only that he was awarded his B.A. degree on 26 January 1571 and proceeded M.A. 9 March 1574. The inventory of his goods and possessions, evidently taken at his death, is dated 15 October 1577, a year notable for an outbreak of plague or typhus that claimed many of Dewhurst's Oxford colleagues that year (see Ker, 473 and McConica, 648) and perhaps Dewhurst's own.

With few exceptions Dewhurst's library is a standard one, made up predominantly of volumes of classical poetry and drama, mainly in Latin, and dictionaries and grammars, including two copies of Calepino's Dictionarium (121.2,3). The remainder of the library is comprised mainly of Aristotle texts and popular commentaries on Aristotle of the period by Niphus (121.6), Faber (121.26), and Acciaiolus (121.27)—staples of the M.A. course—although the Buridanus (121.10) is more characteristic of a late medieval library. Rather specialized medical texts by Triverius and Actuarius (121.14,15) seem slightly out of place given the strongly literary character of the collection, unless Dewhurst had embarked on medical studies. The theological texts one might expect in the collection of an intending B.D. are notably absent. The collection's chief puzzlement is found at 121.41, where the manuscript entry tantalizingly suggests the Italian revenge tragedy of Gregorio Corraro, Progne, but which more likely is another medical book, one on prognostics, perhaps an edition of or a commentary on Hippocrates' Prognostica.

This is a separate edition of the Psalms issued as the first part of another edition of the 1545 Stephanus Bible, but nothing more appeared. 121.36 Theorica Planetarum Unidentified. Continent: date indeterminable.

Georg Purbach's Novae thoricae planetarum, which saw numerous editions in the sixteenth century, is a strong candidate for this entry, as is the Theorica planetarum of Gerardus, Cremonensis, the Younger (Sablonetanus), which often appeared with John Holywood's (Sacrobosco) widely published Sphaera mundi but also in solo editions as early as 1472. BL alone attributes the work to Gerardus, Cremonensis, the Elder. Language(s): Latin. Appraised at 12d in 1577.

121.41 Progne

Unidentified. Place unknown: stationer unknown, date indeterminable.

STC/non-STC status unknown. It is tempting to take the manuscript entry at face value and identify this item as Gregorio Corraro's gory Italian revenge tragedy Progne, but even if one allowed it to be the play's Latin translation (1558), such a work would be greatly out of place in Dewhurst's library. It is more likely either an edition or a commentary on a work on prognostics, perhaps Hippocrates' Prognostica, especially given that the book apparently rested next to Fuchs's medical work in Dewhurst's collection (see 121.40). Then again, the truncated manuscript entry could also represent a book of prognostications, such as Leonard Digges's (STC 435.35 et seq.), or even, perhaps, a separated piece of Ovid's Metamorphoses. Language(s): Latin (probable). Appraised at 2d in 1577.

121.42 2o volumina Oracionis Ciceronis

The Victoria History of the Counties of England

EDITED BY WILLIAM PAGE, F.S.A.

A HISTORY OF LANCASHIRE

VOLUME VI

In this little-used chapel Bartholomew Walmsley of Dunkenhalgh about 1680 held his manor courts from time to time, and after the accession of James II he became bold enough in 1687 to seize the building as an appurtenance of his manor and fit it up for Roman Catholic worship, and it is said that it was used for mass for a short time. The vicar of Blackburn, having failed to procure a friendly settlement, appealed to the Court of Chancery in 1688, and having a clear case recovered possession at once.[114] He was warned by the incident to serve the chapel more efficiently, and in 1717 the chapel was served every other Sunday,[115] the curate of Great Harwood being usually in charge. At that time the certified income was £7 6*s.* 8*d.* In 1749 and later augmentations were obtained from Queen Anne's Bounty in response to local subscriptions, and in 1823 the income was about £105.[116] It is now £274.[117]

The township was made into the ecclesiastical parish of Langho in 1842.[118] The church of St. Leonard, built of local and Stourton stone, was consecrated in 1880; the old St. Leonard's is now a chapel of ease to it. The living is a vicarage, with the ancient incumbency annexed, in the gift of the vicar of Blackburn. The registers commence in 1725. There is a mission room near Whalley Mill.

The church papers at Chester diocesan registry begin in 1720, when John Smith was licensed to Great Harwood and Langho. Four years later a separate minister was assigned to Langho, and the list of incumbents from that time is as follows:—

1724	William Knowles, B.A. (Sidney-Sussex Coll., Camb.)
1746	Christopher Whitwell [119]
1750	Robert Smith, B.A.
1754	Joseph Thomson
1756	Thomas Elleray
c. 1773	Barton Shuttleworth, B.A.[120]
1794	William Barton, B.A. (Sidney-Sussex Coll., Camb.)
1803	James Barnes
1803	George Wearing
1814	Thomas Henry Backhouse, B.A. (Pembroke Coll., Camb.)
1822	John Rushton [121]
1828	Robert Nowell Whitaker, M.A.[122] (St. John's Coll., Camb.)
1840	Charles Arnold Chew, M.A.
1841	Thomas Dent
1845	Jonathan Beilby
1845	John Fayrer Coates, B.A. (St. Cath. Coll., Camb.)
1859	Dudley Hart, M.A. (T.C.D.)
1868	Matthew Hedley, M.A. (Pembroke Coll., Camb.)
1895	Frederick George Chevassût, M.A. (T.C.D.)
1901	John Fleming French

A hermitage by the rocks on the eastern side of Billington is named in a charter of 1308.[123]

In 1672 licence was granted for the use of a new-built house on Langho Green for Congregationalist worship.[124]

A Baptist chapel called Ebenezer was erected in 1879; it is affiliated to Sabden.

The Roman Catholic chapel of St. Mary, near Dinckley Bridge, opened in 1836, is served from Stonyhurst College.[125]

CHARITIES A number of gifts for the poor of the township were made from 1671 to 1684, and land at Dinckley Moor-gate was purchased in 1715. The farm was sold in 1890 and the money invested in India stock, producing £21 12*s.* 4*d.* a year. This is distributed on 21 December, chiefly in gifts of flannel, clothing, &c., but partly in money doles.

Wlipschyre, 1246; Wlipshire, xiii–xiv cent.; Wylpshire, 1396.

The township was anciently united with Dinckley to form one vill, but has been reckoned a separate township for over two centuries. The land rises from 240 ft. above the ordnance datum at the northern corner where the township boundary meets those of Billington and Salesbury to the summit of Wilpshire Moor 770 ft. above mean sea level. A spur of this hill extends towards the south-west and slopes down steeply to Showley Brook, the boundary against Ramsgreave. In the south-eastern half of the township the subsoil consists of the Millstone Grit, in the north-western half of the Yoredale Rocks; the soil is of clay. The land consists of meadow and pasture with bent grass and heath on Wilpshire Moor.[1] The area is 1,002 acres, and the population in 1901 numbered 594 persons.[2]

The main road from Blackburn to Clitheroe passes through the township, and to this is due the erection here of many good residences belonging to people engaged in business in Blackburn. The Bolton, Blackburn and Hellifield line of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway Company also intersects the township with a station called Wilpshire in the southern and residential district. There are no manufactories, the population other than the residential part of it being engaged in agriculture. The links of the Wilpshire and District Golf Club occupy the south-western spur of Wilpshire Moor.

The township is governed by a parish council and was included in the district chapelry of St. Peter, Salesbury, in 1872[3]; the village is distant about half a mile from the church. The Blackburn Orphanage, erected in 1891 and enlarged in 1896, will now accommodate sixty-five children.

Anciently the township, including the hamlet of Dinckley, was rated as a plough-land, of which 4 oxgangs of land lay in the hamlet. In 1332 the township paid 9*s.* 2½*d.* upon the collection of a fifteenth and tenth; in the 17th century 8*s.* was paid for the fifteenth.

The hearth tax return of 1666 records only one house with as many as four hearths; there were twenty-three hearths taxed.[4]

MANOR At the commencement of the 13th century the manor was held by two thegns, Siward and Swain, by the service of 4*s.* Richard son of Siward de Wlipscire was living in the time of John de Lacy, constable of Chester (1213–32), and was the father of Adam called 'Le Louerd,' one of the free tenants of the town who in 1258 were parties to an arbitrament with the free tenants of Salesbury touching the boundaries between the two places.[5] Richard son of Adam, called de Fernihurst, appears to have predeceased his father without issue, and the estate passed to his kinsman Henry son of Gilbert son of Simon son of Siward, being held of Robert de Bolton, ancestor of the Boltons of Loveley Hall in Salesbury, who at this time did suit at the court of Clitheroe as chief tenant of a fourth part of the manor.[6] Gilbert son of Simon was one of the free tenants party to the arbitrament of 1258 and had a numerous progeny holding lands here, parts of which were afterwards acquired by the Clitheroe family, whilst half an oxgang of land which Siward had given to his son Simon father of Gilbert appears to have passed to Bernard de le Hacking, who held such a tenement of the Earl of Lincoln in 1311. This probably descended with the estate of Hacking in Billington in the family of Shuttleworth.[7]

Swain de Wilpshire, who held another portion of the manor, was the father of Robert, eldest of five sons. To him Richard son of Siward gave lands here before 1246 bearing 10*d.* yearly thegnage rent.[8] His lands passed to Adam son of his brother Henry, which Adam was one of the free tenants of the manor in 1258 and died without issue, having given land to Stanlaw Abbey of which the 'Hore-stone' and a 'rene' adjoining his 'wayne-gate' were two of the boundaries named.[9] Part of his estate was acquired by the Bolton family, of whom it was held by the Dewhursts. At the death of the Earl of Lincoln in 1311 the thegnage service of 4*s.* was rendered by Henry de Braddyll 15*d.*, John son of Walter de Braddyll 12*d.*, Henry de Bolton 12*d.*, and Bernard de le Hacking 9*d.*[10]

The HALLHEAD (now Hollowhead) estate and lands, which formed part of the Loveley Hall demesne, descended in the Boltons[11] and their heirs general the Parkers[12] like the mesne manor of Loveley, in Salesbury, and now form part of Mr. E. A. Le Gendre Starkie's estate.[13]

DEWHURST was the residence of a family bearing that name who were seated in this township for more than four centuries. Robert de le Deuhihurst was settled here at the beginning of the reign of Edward I and was impleaded in 1277 with his neighbours by David de Wilpshire for trespassing on his lands.[14] He died before 1281, leaving sons Roger and Henry, who both died without male issue before 1320. Their kinsman Adam de Dewhurst contributed to the subsidy levied in 1332 and was in 1335 holding his estate here of Henry son of John son of Walter de Braddyll with 15*d.* free rent, when the latter gave certain tenements and this service to Robert son of Adam de Clitheroe, kt., in exchange for tenements here called Couhillands and Blakeflatt.[15] Roger del Dewehirst paid poll tax in 1379. In 1447 John Dewhurst of Dewhurst, gent., and Henry his brother were fined for taking too active a part in the Talbot and Hoghton disputes mentioned in the account of Salesbury.[16] John Dewhurst of Dewhurst died in 1547, leaving issue William the father of John Dewhurst, who married Grace daughter of John and heir to her grandfather Henry Boys of Boyshouse in Ribchester[17] and conveyed his estates in Wilpshire, Salesbury and Clayton-le-Dale to trustees in 1574.[18] William Dewhurst petitioned in 1646 to compound for his delinquency in arms, having surrendered to Lord Fairfax. In 1649 he recovered possession of his estates by payment of a sixth of the value amounting to £186.[19] His successor John Dewhurst in 1662 paid a free rent of 13½*d.* to the lord of Clitheroe for lands called Dewhurst. Representatives of the family are still living in the district, but the estate is now the property of the Chorlton and Manchester Joint Asylums Committee, who have an epileptic colony at Langho in the next township.

CARR HALL.—This messuage formed part of the estate of the Cunliffes of Cunliffe in Billington and passed after the death of Roger Cunliffe temp. Henry IV to his daughter and heir Ellen, the wife of Peter Talbot, a younger son of Richard Talbot of Slaidburn. Their descendant Stephen Talbot, living in 1481, was grandfather of Nicholas, who died in 1547 seised of lands in Wilpshire, Billington, Salesbury, Mitton and Tadcaster. His estate in Tadcaster descended to his daughter Margaret by his first wife Agnes daughter of Lawrence Shuttleworth of Gawthorpe. She married Robert Aspden. The remainder of the estate including Carr descended to his son George Talbot by a second marriage, who died in 1629, aged eighty-eight.[20] His son John married Dorothy daughter of Edward Braddyll of Portfield, by whom he had Edward Talbot, who probably sold the estate. George Talbot's estate at Carr was sequestered for 'delinquency' by the Parliament in the Civil War.[21] In 1662 John Braddyll paid 3*d.* free rent for his lands called Carr.[22] The estate is now the property of Mr. G. E. A. H. Petre of Dunkenhalgh.

A Wesleyan chapel was built in the village in 1887.

Dunkythele, Dinkedelay, 1246; Dunkedeley, 1258; Dinkedelegh, xiii–xiv cent.; Dinkedley, 1327; Dynkley, xvi cent.

The township, formerly united with Wilpshire as one, but now separated, lies between the River Ribble and Dinckley Brook, forming a slight plateau between these waters, with an elevation of 250 ft. or more above the ordnance datum. The subsoil consists of the Yoredale Rocks, with alluvial deposits by the river. The soil is clayey; the land consists entirely of meadow and pasture with some woodland on the brows above the river. No main road passes through the township, but traces of the Roman road from Ribchester to Ilkley may be seen at various points. The nearest railway station is at Langho, distant 2 miles. The township was included in the parish of Langho in 1842, when that district chapelry was created out of the parish of Blackburn.[1] The area is 608 acres, and the population in 1901 numbered seventy-four persons.[2]

Dr. Stukeley records that several Roman altars were found here, but all had been removed before 1725 save two which were both obliterated: one stood in a grass-plot in the garden at Dinckley Hall, covered with moss and weeds, the other was used in the house as a cheese-press.[3]

MANOR Ailsi lord of DINCKLEY at the commencement of the 13th century was father of Elias 'de Dunkythele' living 1246, whose son John with Bernard del Hacking recovered moor and woodland here in 1292, of which they had been disseised by certain of the free tenants of Salesbury.[4] In 1295 he gave to his daughter and co-heir Christiana lands bounded by Weticroft syke, a 'clocum' called Wilmescrofte-walle, and Mikelbroc, and the service of 6*d.* from John del Mikelridding. To Matilda his other daughter he gave his chief messuage of Dinckley and free thegnage rents due at St. Giles of 18½*d.* and a pair of spurs from Bernard de le Hacking, 19*d.* from John son of Ecke, 1*d.* from Robert Collan and 1*d.* from Christiana his daughter.[5] These two ladies appear to have conveyed the greater part of their estate to Hugh de Clitheroe of Salesbury and his son Roger, who held a third part of the town at the death of the Earl of Lincoln in 1311 by 24½*d.* thegnage rent.[6] In 1316 Adam son of Hugh de Clitheroe acquired the lands of Adam del Clough of Read.[7] These estates descended in the family of Clitheroe to the Talbots in the same way as the manor of Salesbury, and with the reputed manor of Dinckley next to be described formed part of the estate of 370 acres sold by Lord De Tabley in 1866 to Mr. Henry Ward of Blackburn, and about 1894 conveyed to the Duke of Somerset, the present owner.

The estate held by the Hacking family seems to have been identical with the reputed manor. Bernard del Hacking had a younger brother John, who died before 1313, leaving issue by Cecily his wife, afterwards the wife of Richard son of Adam de Knoll, a daughter Alice his heir, who married Adam son of Hugh de Pemberton. In 1323 Bernard del Hacking sued his brother's representative for four messuages and half the mill of Dinckley, but unsuccessfully, as it was proved that William del Hacking the father had given the tenements to his younger son John in fee for the render of a pair of white gloves.[8] During the succeeding century the descent of this estate is obscure. John and Alice de Cundeclif contributed to the poll tax levied in 1379.[9] In 1430 Gilbert Cunliffe paid a free rent of 2*s.* for Dinckley, and as Gilbert Cunliffe of Dinckley, gent., was arrested in 1440 with Richard Banaster of Brogden and Peter Riley of Accrington, gents., at the king's suit.[10] His

The depositions taken in 1570 show that there was a dispute with John Talbot respecting the Smithy Croft in Wilpshire and other parts of the Hallhead estate as Parker alleged. William Clayton of Little Harwood, aged ninety-eight, said he had known Smithy Croft for sixty years; before that it had been called Calf Croft. Richard Bolton had owned it and it had been assured to Margaret Clayton (sister of deponent), who married Richard Bolton's son and heir. Robert Bolton of Halifax, aged sixty-two, said his father was a smith and built the smithy which afterwards gave the name to the croft; deponent had been born at Hallhead and knew that his father paid the rent to a sister of William Clayton, who had married a Bolton and afterwards married Thomas Rishton. The Talbots alleged that James Halsall and Elizabeth his wife (to which Elizabeth lands came by descent from the Boltons) were tenants of land in the manor of Salesbury, and that she and her son Richard Parker accepted allotments in compensation for inclosures; Duchy of Lanc. MANOR

There is no manor of Ramsgreave, which was anciently parcel of the chase attached to Blackburn Manor, and was till the 14th century held by the lords of Clitheroe.[3] In 1360 Henry Duke of Lancaster gave to Whalley Abbey two cottages and various lands and wood in Ramsgreave.[4] The place thus acquired an independent standing. In 1478 the monks received £4 a year from it,[5] and in 1538 the total receipts were £9 10*s.* 3*d.*; a large part of the area was still woodland.[6]

After the suppression of the abbey Ramsgreave was in 1540 sold by the Crown with other lands to Sir Alexander Radcliffe,[7] but he soon transferred this part of his purchase to Andrew Barton of Smithills, lord of the manor of Blackburn, who at his death in 1549 was found to have held twelve messuages, &c., in Ramsgreave of the king in chief by the eighthieth part of a knight's fee and a rent of 19*s.* 2¾*d.*[8] The estate remained in this family for some time,[9] but has long been dispersed. The principal part, the Ramsgreave Hall estate, has passed through a number of hands,[10] and about 1878 was acquired from Mrs. Mary Jane Rowden Hindle, his sister-in-law, by the late Daniel Thwaites[11] of Woodfold Park in this township, whose daughter Mrs. Yerburgh succeeded in 1888.[12] She is lady of the manor of Mellor adjoining.

The older owners included Gillibrand, Hoghton and Sharples.[13] More recently James Shorrock of Mellor was a considerable owner,[14] and has been succeeded by the Misses Shorrock.

The hearth tax returns show that twenty-one hearths were liable in 1666; only one house had as many as four.[15]

In 1855 the Congregationalists of Blackburn erected a small chapel at the 'Top of Ramsgreave.'[16]

Salebiri, Saleburi, Salesbyry, xiii–xv cent.; Sailebury, xv–xvi cent.; Salisbury, xvii cent.

This is a rural township on the left bank of the River Ribble, from which the land rises to an elevation of 475 ft. above the ordnance datum on Hazle Moor, a spur of the more distant Wilpshire Moor. For some distance Dinckley Brook forms the eastern boundary, whilst a tributary stream called Park Brook flows through the centre of the township between Bolton Hall and Copterd Hall. The subsoil consists of the Millstone Grit, except over a small area near Dinckley Brook and around Loveley Hall, where the Yoredale rocks occur; the soil is of clay and marl. The land is entirely under grass; there is a fair amount of woodland on the brows above the Ribble, near Salesbury Hall, and in the ravines.[1] The area of the township is 1,215 acres, and in 1901 the population numbered 217 persons.[2] The main road from Preston to Clitheroe passes through the township, and is intersected by the high road from Blackburn to Ribchester. The nearest railway station is at Wilpshire.

The Roman road leading from Ribchester to Ilkley traverses the township near to Salesbury Hall.

Thomas Talbot, son of the lord of Salesbury, was a clerk in the Record Office in the Tower in the time of Elizabeth, and won distinction as a genealogist.[3]

MANOR

The tenure of this manor was by thegnage and the yearly service of 5*s.*, the ratable area being one plough-land. The first thegn of Salesbury upon record was Ulfkil, living in the time of Stephen and Henry II, who was the father of Gilbert and Waldeve. Between the two brothers the township appears to have been equally divided, but Waldeve held his lands of Gilbert, who is variously styled as of Salesbury or of 'Heley,' the latter being the name of one of the village fields. As Gilbert son of Ulfkil he, with the consent of his heir and his homagers, gave to Sawley land in Elresbaru and Uchtrede's Greave to obtain sepulture for himself and wife at the abbey church; he also confirmed his brother's gifts to the same house.[4] His son Adam de Heley, son of Gilbert de Salesbury, gave all the dead wood in his woodland lying between Heley Brook and Weteley Brook and all the iron ore within his land of Salesbury.[5] Gilbert and Hugh, sons of Adam de Heley, were also benefactors to Sawley.[6] Before 1241 Gilbert acquired lands from his cousin Richard son of Ralph, who had no male heir,[7] and was living in 1257, when he and his brother Hugh served as jurors. John eldest son of Gilbert was the last of his line, and in 1288 gave his messuage with 3 oxgangs of land to Hugh de Clitheroe, whose father had married the heiress of the younger line of the family of Salesbury.[8]

Returning to Waldeve son of Ulfkil de Salesbury, who appears to have had half the township, we find him giving to the monks of Sawley in the latter part of the 12th century, with the assent of Gilbert his lord and Ralph his heir, a parcel of land, iron ore and dead wood for charcoal, and such necessary help in his wood as would suffice and as pertained to 1⅓ oxgangs of his land in Salesbury. Ralph son of Waldeve confirmed and gave the monks other lands here 'to the help of their church and edifices' at Sawley.[9] Richard son of Ralph added gifts of land in places called Haselene Holth, the Mere, Huctrede's Greave, Claifurlang, the Kar by the riddings of Robert son of Adam, Ribbi and Award, Foxhole Clough, 4 acres in the field between Salesbury and Dinckley, the Suere, and near the riddings of Henry Kigelepeni and Siward son of Gilbert.[10] Before 1241 he gave part of his lands to his cousin Gilbert, as already related, and a few years earlier gave the whole half of one-sixth part of the town to William the clerk of Clayton, with the yearly service of 5*d.* to the chief lord.[11] He probably died in 1240, for in that year the justices in eyre awarded seisin of the fourth part of the township to his daughters Agnes and Avice in a suit against their cousin Hugh son of Ranulf.[12] A few years later Edmund de Lacy, constable of Chester, purchased 1 oxgang of land from these ladies, which he granted to Hugh son of Ranulf de Salesbury, with the service of 18*s.* per annum.[13]

Ranulf, younger brother of Richard de Salesbury, was the father of Hugh, who increased his estates in the township by marriage with Margery sister and heir of Hugh de Heley.[14] He was living in 1268, when his cousins Agnes and Avice were demanding from him a tenement here, perhaps that which they had sold to Edmund de Lacy.[15] He had issue five daughters: Cecily, who became the wife of Hugh de Clitheroe about 1265; Dionisia, often called Diana, who married Thomas 'le Someter' son of William de Hulton, by whom she had issue a son Adam, who died young; Matilda died young; Agnes and Alice, who do not appear to have married.[16]

Those who bore the name of Clitheroe during the reigns of Henry III and Edward I formed a very numerous clan around Clitheroe. Karnwath Bussel of Clitheroe had a numerous progeny, of whom Ralph was probably the father of Hugh de Clitheroe, the husband of Cecily de Salesbury.[17] Hugh died in or before 1272, leaving issue Hugh, who acquired a considerable estate in Clitheroe and Salesbury.[18] In 1296 he purchased from Thomas de Hulton and his wife Dionisia their estate in the manor, and in 1311, as Hugh de Salesbury, was returned as holding the manors of Salesbury and Little Pendleton in thegnage.[19] He was succeeded by his son Roger, who had a grant of free warren here in 1312, but lost his life the year following in a fray. He was succeeded by his brother Adam,[20] who had apparently accompanied his father to Ireland in the year 1303. He was one of the four persons appointed in 1323 to be keepers of the peace in the county.[21] In 1327–8, as 'chivaler,' he instituted proceedings against eighteen freeholders in Salesbury and Dutton for felling and carrying away his trees growing there.[22] In 1332 he carried away Robert de Clitheroe's live stock and chattels from the manor-house of Bailey and refused to restore them. An appeal to the king resulted in an order for an extent of Adam's lands to be made and the half awarded to Robert, to whom a debt incurred in 1316 was due from Adam, which he had failed to repay.[23] He was living in 1337, when he was arraigned with many of the county gentry for trespass in the free chases of Queen Isabella of Pendle and Rossendale.[24] He died soon after, leaving issue by his wife Cecily (who survived him) Robert and Hugh.

In 1342 Robert de Clitheroe paid 13*s.* 4*d.* for the thegnage estate, formerly Thomas de Hulton's, in this town.[25] He had been married to Sibyl daughter of Richard de Hodleston, in 1331, made a settlement of his estates in 1340, and died before December 1343, when his feoffees delivered two-thirds of the manor and other estates to his son Robert and one-third to his widow.[26] The marriage of Robert de Clitheroe was acquired by Adam de Hoghton, who married him to his sister Sibyl, relict of William de Bold. The issue of the marriage was an only daughter Sibyl, upon whom her father settled his manor and estates in 1362, and married her to Richard son of John de Radcliffe of Ordsall.[27] In 1371 he and his wife had licence for an oratory at Salesbury. He died in 1375, and his son-in-law Radcliffe in 1380, leaving issue Joan de Radcliffe, born about 1379.[28] Sibyl widow of Richard de Radcliffe afterwards married Richard Mauleverer of Beamsley, and after his death without issue by her married for her third husband, in 1386, Roger de Fulthorpe, kt., a judge of Common Pleas, who was attainted of treason in 1388 and exiled to Ireland, where he died in 1392, leaving issue by a former marriage only.[29]

Joan de Radcliffe, who was heir to the manor after her mother's death in 1414, married Henry de Hoghton of Leagram, kt., second son of Adam de Hoghton of Hoghton, kt. He joined with his wife in 1422 in vesting the manors of Salesbury and Clayton-le-Dale in trustees for settlement upon their issue with remainder to the heirs male of Richard de Hoghton, natural son of Sir Henry, frustrating the intent of the settlement of 1340 and disinheriting the right heirs of Robert de Clitheroe the elder,[30] represented by John Talbot, whom Dodsworth has identified as son of William younger brother of Thomas Talbot of Bashall.

In 1425 Richard son of Henry de Hoghton, kt., of Leagram, became bound in the chancery at Lancaster to John son of William Talbot in 1,000 marks to abide the award of John Stanley and William Harrington, kts., touching the estates late of Sibyl relict of Richard Radcliffe. The award has not been preserved, but appears to have allotted to Richard de Hoghton lands forming part of this estate worth £20 per annum. The settlement did not long continue acceptable to the Talbots, by whom several attempts were made, with the assistance of friends, to intimidate the Hoghtons and eject them from the share of the Clitheroe estates of which they had been placed in possession by the award of 1425. In 1440 the sheriff was directed to summon before the justices at Lancaster twenty-four men of the view of frankpledge of Salesbury, Clayton, Wilpshire, Dinckley, Oswaldtwistle and Dutton to recognize if John Talbot and John his son on 1 April 1438 gathered round them a number of armed men, entered the manors of Salesbury and Clayton belonging to Richard de Hoghton, esq., and forcibly occupied his lands in the places named.[31]

As a result of arbitration in 1449 this manor and appendant estates were awarded to John Talbot in right of Isabella his wife, daughter and co-heir of Richard fourth son of Robert de Clitheroe the elder, and to Henry son of Richard de Hoghton were awarded the manor of Little Pendleton and lands in various places.[32] John Talbot died a few weeks after the date of the award seised of the manor and appurtenant estates. younger brothers and seven neighbours, in 1447, in raiding the live stock of Richard de Hoghton at Little Pendleton.[33] After the place of concealment of Henry VI at Waddington in July 1465 had been divulged by William Cantelowe, an Abingdon monk, John Talbot, as a connexion of the king's protector, Sir John Tempest of Bracewell, kt., made a virtue of necessity and obtained as a reward for surrendering the king an annuity of 20 marks and the conversion of the socage rent of 37*s.* 7*d.* yearly for this manor into a render of a white rose at Midsummer.[34]

John Talbot was knighted in Scotland in July 1482, succeeded his father in or before 1484, and died in 1511.[35] His son, known as 'long John Talbot,' passed his estates to trustees in 1514, to make a sufficient estate to his wife Isabel daughter of Richard Towneley of Towneley, kt., of the manor of Dinckley, and to make provision for his younger sons, and died 17 August 1515. John his son, aged fourteen at his father's death, is described by Benalt in the heraldic visitation of 1533 as 'a verrey gentle esquir and worthy to be taken payne for.'[36]

John Talbot, third in descent from the last-named, succeeded his grandfather at the age of seven years in 1589. He was knighted by James I in 1617 at Lathom House[37] and in 1642 was appointed one of the collectors in this hundred of the subsidy granted 17 Charles I for the payment of forces and provision of ammunition for the safeguard of the county. In January 1643 he was suspected of attempting to entice to Salesbury some of the chief Parliamentarians of the neighbourhood of Manchester with a view to effect their capture. The plot was discovered and a force of 300 men a few days later attacked Sir John's horse stationed at Salesbury, slew some of them, drove others into the Ribble, where they were drowned, captured others and pillaged the hall. A month later his son George Talbot narrowly escaped capture at the storming of Preston by Col. Seaton's forces from Manchester.[38] Sir John surrendered to the Parliamentarians in December 1645 and in August 1646 compounded for his delinquency by a fine of £444, representing the sixth part of the value of his estate in fee. He and his son joined the king with the Earl of Derby at Worcester in 1651, and in consequence his Lancashire estates were sold by the Treason trustees in 1654 to Adam Bolton, gent., for £710, whilst his son as John Talbot of Dinckley compounded by paying a fine of £335, representing a third part of the value of his estate.[39] Sir John died intestate in 1659.

John Talbot, his son and heir, born in 1608, was the last male representative of his line and died in 1677, leaving Dorothy his daughter and heir. She married the following year Edward Warren of Poynton in Cheshire, and carried the manor and estates into that family.[40] Their grandson George Warren was M.P. for Lancaster 1758–80 and 1786–96, created K.B. in 1761 and died in 1801, leaving an only daughter Elizabeth Harriet, married in 1777 to Thomas James seventh and last Viscount Bulkeley, who died without issue in 1822. His widow, the Dowager Viscountess Bulkeley, by will in 1826 constituted as her heir her cousin George Fleming Leicester son of John Fleming Leicester first Baron De Tabley, who, attaining his full age in 1832, took by royal licence the name of Warren in lieu of that of Leicester in accordance with his cousin's will. In 1866 he sold the manor with an estate extending to 887 acres in this township and other estates in Clayton, Dinckley and Osbaldeston to Henry Ward of Blackburn for £140,000. This was acquired by the Duke of Somerset about 1894.

SALESBURY HALL stood in a low situation 300 yds. to the south-west of an acute bend in the course of the River Ribble known as Sale Wheel, where there is a deep pool, once a several fishery of the lords of Clitheroe,[41] and is said to have been a quadrangular house built in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, but no record of its exact character seems to have been kept and only a fragment now remains. An account of the building written in 1877[42] describes the south and west wings as then standing though detached.[43] The west wing had been curtailed at its north end and its front wall had been restored in dressed stonework, but it retained a wide depressed arch, no doubt formerly the entrance to the courtyard, but then blocked up. A sketch[43a] of the building in 1834 shows the west wing at that date to have had pretty much the appearance of a two-story cottage with square sash windows and a gable at each end north and south, the only ancient features remaining being the archway already mentioned, which was at the north end, and two low stone buttresses. On the north side a building in ruins is shown, but this had probably been removed before 1877. The interior of the west wing had a series of rooms on the upper floor reached by a long corridor and partitioned with oak panelling, but all the lower rooms had been modernized. Some traces of a moat were at that time said to have existed, and on the north side were fragments of a massive rubble wall which may have belonged to the original structure. The west wing was pulled down in 1883 when the present house, known as Salesbury Hall, was erected. The south wing, or a portion of it, however, still remains between the road and the modern building and is used as a stable. It is 47 ft. in length and 15 ft. wide with a stone slated roof and timber gable at the east end, one side of it built in stone directly facing the high road. The north side towards the house is built of stone to a height of 9 ft., above which it is of timber and plaster with a cove under the eaves. The framing is filled in with straight and diagonal pieces, and there are two large wooden windows, now built up, these details probably indicating the chief characteristics of the original building.

A Roman altar from Ribchester dedicated to Apollo was at one time built into one of the walls of Salesbury Hall, butwas removed by Dr. Whitaker, who at his death bequeathed it to St. John's College, Cambridge.

There was formerly a deer park here from which Sir Ralph Assheton had venison in 1676 by the gift of John Talbot, esq. The eastern boundary is still indicated by a tenement known as Fence Gate, where the road from Dinckley Bridge enters the township. Further to the north is another tenement called Cob Oak.

LOVELEY HALL (Luffeley, 1473). For five centuries this estate was held by the families of Bolton and Parker. In 1246 Robert de Bolton had lands in Salesbury and Clayton. He was the father of Richard, who had issue by Cecily his second wife Nicholas, to whom in 1316 Dionisia relict of Thomas de Hulton confirmed the estate formerly held by his father Richard de Bolton.[44] His successor Richard by his wife Emota had John, upon whom lands in Salesbury and Wilpshire were settled in 1365, father of Richard, who died without issue, and Adam, who succeeded his brother about 1387, and by his wife Katharine had issue Richard. In 1393 Richard son of Adam Bolton married Matilda daughter of John del Meles of Preston.[45] He appears to have had brothers, Geoffrey, who died before 1406, and Roger, who married Cecily daughter of William le Wainwright. Roger Bolton, yeoman, was amerced in 1447 for taking part with John Talbot and his son in various assaults and trespasses upon Richard Hoghton of Leagram.[46] About 1460 Robert Bolton gave puture to the sheriff at 'Lovelay,' and was probably the father of Richard Bolton, who was described as of Loveley in 1473. John Bolton son of Richard was the last of the line, and passed his estates to trustees in 1508 for settlement upon his daughter Elizabeth and her then husband John son of John Singleton of Chingle Hall, esq.[47]

SEYMOUR, Duke of Somerset. Gules two wings conjoined in lure or.

Some twenty-eight years later one Richard Bolton forcibly entered the messuage of Loveley, claiming the estate against the rightful owner James Halsall, who held it in right of his wife Elizabeth, who is obviously the daughter and heir of John Bolton.[48] A younger branch of the family continued to own lands at Bolton Hall and Copthurst in this township until the 18th century.[49] The above-named Elizabeth had married as her first husband one Hugh Parker of Salesbury,[50] and their son Richard Parker, gent., succeeded and held the estate temp. Elizabeth,[51] dying in 1592. John his successor died seised in 1607,[52] whose son Richard and grandson John held the estate during the greater part of the 17th century. John Parker's estates of Loveley and Hollowhead were sequestrated for his delinquency and sold by the Treason trustees in 1654.[53] John Parker son of the last-named John was assessed to hearth tax in 1666 upon four hearths and died in 1692. In 1711 another John Parker sold Loveley to Edmund Winder of Clayton-le-Dale, whose brother Robert and son John were concerned. This son, John Winder, gent., held the estate in 1735, as appears from his initials and the date upon the casing-pipes on the front of the house. He was succeeded by his son Edmund

Loveley Hall is a two-story stone-built house with stone slated roofs, erected probably in the first half of the 17th century, but very much altered about a hundred years later and again in the latter half of the 19th century. The original plan was H-shaped, but many of the external features of the building were changed about the year 1735, when the front assumed more or less of its present aspect. The mullioned windows in the upper floor were then done away with, square sash windows inserted, and a plain straight parapet, the top forming a moulded cornice ornamented with classic vases, was added, the gables being similarly ornamented with vase terminations. Two well-designed spout heads with the date 1735 and the initials of John Winder and his wife between the windows in the recessed portion of the front give a good deal of 18th-century character to the elevation, which, however, retains its mullioned and transomed windows on the ground floor. In 1874 further changes took place, when a porch was built in front of the central square-headed doorway, a bay window going up both stories was added on the front of the east wing, and the building was extended further eastward by the addition of another gable to the front. At the same time the interior was almost wholly renovated, and now preserves little or nothing of its early appearance. A large one-story bay window was also added on the west side, and extensions were made at the back, two new gables being built out from the recessed portion in front of the end wings. The fireplace at the east end of the hall is 10 ft. wide, with a stone arch 6 ft. 6 in. high, on which is carved the date 1712. The fireplace, however, is now lined with modern tiles, and the fittings of the hall and other rooms on the ground floor, which is only 8 ft. high, are generally of the revived Gothic style prevalent at the time the work was carried out.

An octagonal stone sundial on the lawn in front of the house bears the date 1668 together with the initials C.H. and R.S. and a blank shield on the shaft. The same date also occurs on the plate. The shaft is similar in design to one at Huntroyde.

BOLTON HALL stands in a low and sheltered situation to the north of the high road on the left bank of the small stream called the Park Brook, and is a two-story farm-house with low mullioned windows and stone slated overhanging roof. The walling is of rough stone with squared quoins at the angles, and all the windows have hood moulds and diamond-shaped lead lights. The front elevation is about 60 ft. in length, and the projecting porch, the roof of which is a continuation of that of the house, is considerably out of the centre, there being a window of five lights on one side and two windows of seven and five lights respectively on the other. The porch is an open one with a stone seat on each side, and over the four-centred arch is the date 1655 with the initials $_{L}{}^{B}{}_{M}$.

In 1592 the following persons were presented and amerced for absence from church: Nicholas Bolton, gent.; Adam Bolton, yeoman; Lancelot Bolton, yeoman; Nathaniel Lee, yeoman; Adam Bolton, yeoman, and Jane his wife; Anna Carden and Cicely Shorrock, Richard Asshe, smith, and Rosamund wife of Thomas Southworth, esq.[55]

The oratory and portable altar mentioned in 1406–8 do not seem to have led to the building of any public chapel.

The ecclesiastical parish of St. Peter, Salesbury, was formed in 1842 as a district chapelry of Salesbury, Wilpshire, Osbaldeston (since taken out), Clayton-le-Dale and Dinckley townships.[56] The parochial chapel of St. Peter was built in 1806 and consecrated the year following.[57] In 1882 the present church was erected upon the site of the old. The registers date from 1807. The living is a vicarage in the gift of the vicar of Blackburn. Adjoining the church are National schools erected in 1848, enlarged in 1894 and again in 1899.

CLAYTON-LE-DALE

Cleyton, 1243; Claiton, 1246; Clayton, 1258; Cleyton or Clayton (by Ribchester), xiv–xvii cent.

The township extends from the boundary of Dutton on the north-west across the River Ribble[1] for a distance of 3 miles to the south-east, rising from about 75 ft. above the ordnance datum at the river bed to nearly 500 ft. on the borders of Wilpshire. The area of the township on both sides of the river is 1,714½ acres, and the population in 1901 was 311 persons.[2] The Yoredale rocks underlie portions of the higher part of the township, the Millstone Grit the remainder. The land is parcelled out in small farms devoted to the production of dairy produce. There is some woodland on the brows and in the ravines by the river.[3] The high road from Clitheroe to Preston traverses the township with a cross road leading northward to Ribchester and towards the south-east to Wilpshire station, on the Bolton and Clitheroe branch of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Company's railway, which serves this township. There are traces of a Roman road—known in mediaeval times as the 'Stanystrete'—leading from the river opposite Ribchester in the direction of Blackburn. The principal houses are Showley Hall, New Hall, Clayton Hey, Showley Fold and Harwood Fold. In 1842 the township was included in the district chapelry of St. Peter, Salesbury.[4]

In the 16th and 17th centuries 'Clayton-in-le-Dale-cum-Showley' was rated as a joint township.

DEWHURST OF DEWHURST IN WILPSHIRE, &c.

William Dewhurst and Oliver Dewhurst, both of Wilpshire, paid the Subsidy levy in 1523.

John Dewhurst of Dewhurst in Wilpshire (named in the Visitation of 1613), by a daughter of Isherwood of Shorrock-hey in Pleasington, had a son William.

William Dewhurst of Dewhurst occurs in 1568, and was assessed for lands in Wilpshire to a subsidy in 1570. He died about 1592, having given 20s. to Blackburn Grammar School. By Elizabeth his wife, daughter of — Aspinall of Standen, he had a son John.

John Dewhurst, of Dewhurst, gent., a juror in 1597, a recorded freeholder in 1600, was taxed on his lands in Wilpshire to a subsidy in 1610. A plaint in the Palatine Chancery Court, in 1609, by Gyles Whalley of Broadhead in Mellor, yeoman, sets forth that John Dewhurst the elder, of Mickle-heyes, being seased in his demesne as of freehold, and during the term of his life and the lives of John and William, his sons, of parcels of land in Mickle-heyes in Rishton by lease made unto John Dewhurst by Ralph Rishton of Penthalgh, gent., the said John Dewhurst, for the sum of £30 paid to him by Edward Whalley, brother of suppliant, of Stuppen-hey in Lipshire (Wilpshire), conveyed, in 4th James I. (1606), the said closes of land to Edward Whalley for 12 years. John Dewhurst married Grace, daughter and heir of Henry Boyes of Boyes House (she died in 1619, and was buried at Ribchester), and had issue, sons, William, born in 1587; and John; and daughters, Ellen, wife of Richard Banester of Craven; Mary wife of George Southworth of Highfield, Esq.; and Ann. His son—

William Dewhurst, lived at Boyes House, Ribchester (his mother's estate), but had lands in Wilpshire. He married Helen, third daughter of Thomas Southworth of Samlesbury, Esq., and had sons, John, born in 1610, died in July, 1622; Anthony, died in Jan. 1621-2; William, eventual heir; and George; and daughters, Rosamond, and Grace. William Dewhurst, gent., died at Ribchester, July 12th, 1622, seized (by the escheat taken July 28th, 1625) of two messuages called Dewhurst and 60 acres of land in Wilpshire; one messuage called The Ashes, and 30 acres of land in Wilpshire; these tenements held of Sir John Talbot, Knt., as of his manor of Salesbury, in socage, by 4s. rent, worth 40s.; of other lands in Wilpshire; of Boyes House in Ribchester, with lands, &c. William Dewhurst, son and heir, was then aged 6 years and 5 days.

From William Dewhurst, the son, descended the Dewhursts of Ribchester, of whom were, William Dewhurst, born in 1644, died Jan. 24th, 1696; and later, Henry Dewhurst, whose Will is dated Nov. 16th, 1762; James Dewhurst, of Ribchester in 1764; John Dewhurst, who by his Will, dated June 13th, 1771, gave an endowment for a free school in Ribchester; and Edward Dewhurst of Ribchester, yeoman, who married, in Aug. 1765, Jane Wood of Blackburn.

Descended also from the above stock of Dewhursts of Wilpshire was Roger Dewhurst, born at Dewhurst House, Wilpshire, about 1720, lived in Billington, and died, in 1820, aged nearly 100 years. By Martha his wife he had sons, Henry, John, William, Thomas, and Edmund; and daughters, Jennet, and Mary. The youngest son, Edmund Dewhurst of Temple End, Pleasington (born in 1770, died July 3rd, 1857), married, in 1800, Betty, daughter of William Kilshaw of Garstang, and had sons, William; Thomas; Robert; and Kilshaw Dewhurst, born in 1811, of Pleasington in 1877; and a daughter Elizabeth.

A branch of this family was seated at Mickleley in Rishton. John Dewhurst of Mickleley, son of John of Dewhurst, had sons, John; James, born in 1617; and several daughters. John Dewhurst of Mickleley died in March, 1653-4. Another John Dewhurst of Mickleley died in Nov., 1676. Thomas Dewhurst of Mickleley occurs in 1629. He had a son Thomas, born in 1622, and other issue.
